2 Negroes Arrested In Shooting

Bogalusa, La. (AP) — A white heckler was shot at close range by a Negro youth late Thursday after a scuffle erupted near the close of a prayer march in this Louisiana papermill town.

The victim was given emergency treatment here and then rushed 60 miles by ambulance to a New Orleans hospital where his condition was described as critical.

He was identified as Alton Crowe Jr., 26, a tall, husky man from Pearl River — a small community near the Mississippi border. Crowe was seen moments before among hecklers jeering at Negroes kneeling in prayer outside city hall.

Gun Recovered

Police Chief Claxton Knight said Henry Austin, 21, a Negro, admitted firing the shots. The gun was recovered.

The sudden shooting sent white tempers soaring in this town, long a center of Ku Klux Klan activity.

Mayor Jesse Cutrer later called for 150 more state policemen. A state official said 350-400 troopers would be sent in. Cutrer said he had plans to ask for martial law.

White youths, aided by a woman using her umbrella as a club, attacked news photographers. Other youths sought to pull Negroes from cars.

Swift police action enabled the 250 marchers to get swiftly back to the Negro section of town they had left an hour earlier.

The prayer meeting outside city hall was intended to dramatize segregation here. It was the latest of a summer long series of protests by Bogalusa Negroes.

Struck By Rock

White groups shouted insults at the Negroes during the prayers. Then, when the marchers turned back, a Negro girl at the tag end of the line was struck by a rock.

A late model car with four Negroes inside stopped and one Negro — identified later as Austin — got out. The shooting followed.

The police chief said the three others in the car witnessed the shooting. He said one of the three, Milton Johnson, was taken into custody but that the other two got away in the confusion.

There were reports Austin and Johnson were members of the Deacons for Defense —A Militant Negro group formed to protect civil rights workers. Deacons normally carry arms.

Petition Drive May Lag In Rural Areas

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A co-leader in the referendum petition drive to place the state income tax on the 1966 general election ballot said Thursday he is not sure rural Nebraska counties will help provide signatures to accomplish the task.

"I do not expect that we will have any difficulty acquiring signatures in eastern counties," Marvin Werve of Omaha noted.

"But we have not yet been able to test the temperature in rural counties.

Should Be Interested

"I certainly hope we will have no trouble in getting this on the ballot. Both sides should be interested in letting the issue be decided by the people."

Werve, Democratic national committeeman, is vice president of the Omaha National Bank.

His co-leader, Richard Herman of Omaha, is president of Herman Brothers, Inc., a trucking firm, and served as regional director for Barry Goldwater during his 1964 presidential campaign.

Non-Partisan Basis

Both are undertaking leadership in the referendum movement on a non-partisan basis.

Petitions must contain 28,905 names distributed so as to include at least 5% of the electorate in each of at least 38 counties.

If petitioners can acquire 57,810 names, the state will be enjoined from preparing for administration of the tax law in advance.

The income tax is scheduled to become effective Jan. 1, 1967. The general election will be held in November of 1966.

Werve said petitioners will move into all 93 counties to seek signatures, rather than concentrate their efforts in a smaller number.

Appointment of a number of county organizations will be announced early next week.

Want Sign tures

"Neither of us will take any position on the issue at this time," Herman pointed out. "We are simply seeking signatures to permit the people to vote on this issue."

Werve said actual distribution of petitions will probably not begin until July 19 at the earliest. Petitioners face a deadline date 90 days after the 1965 Legislature adjourns.

Werve said "statements by some minor officeholders in both political parties" have not helped preserve the non-partisan aspect of the referendum drive.

No Football

"We cannot allow this to become a political football," he said.

"All of that can serve no useful purpose. It might cause some enmity which might sabotage the possibility of putting this issue to a vote of the people."

Werve said he "will make no derogatory statements about the Republican Party or its officials or officeholders, and I expect the same courtesy from them."

Unjust

Werve said Gov. Frank Morrison, in particular, has been subjected to unjust criticism.

"He made a wholehearted and honest attempt to do what he thought was best—that is, to give the people a chance to speak," Werve noted.

Morrison allowed the bill to become law without his signature.

Champion

Finance director Hale Champion, 42; his wife, Marie, 39, and their 19-month-old daughter, Katherine Marie, are feared kidnaped by two Oregon ex-convicts. Gov. Edmund G. Brown said he's sure the gunmen abducted his best friend and the members of Champion's family.

A woman driving south on U.S. 101, in California's coast range, told officers she saw an auto answering the description of the Champion's car — the one officers fear the ex-convicts commandeered at gunpoint early Thursday.

Mrs. Fay Anderson of Southgate said she saw a 1962 Ford Galaxie several times near Gilroy. She said it turned east on U.S. 466, toward Paso Robles.

She reported that the last time she saw the car two men—answering the description of the suspects — were standing outside. One was working with the license plate and the other was standing by, holding something, she said.

She said she only saw one person inside the car and that was "a little person, possibly a child."

The highway patrol said they were still questioning the woman at a late hour.

The FBI said there was "an obvious presumption" that the Champions were seized by the ex-convicts at the Champions' home and forced to go along at gunpoint in the Champions' car.

Deputy Gunned Down

Using the same procedure, the ex-convicts had seized six Oregon hostages and forced them to go along in cars on a flight from a $14,000 Portland bank holdup. An Oregon deputy sheriff who tried to stop the gunmen was slain.

The Oregon hostages were set free Wednesday night in downtown Sacramento, their abductors fleeing on foot.

Awaiting word on the fate of his top adviser was Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who said he is "praying they're safe." Brown calls him "my good right arm" and the "chief architect" of the Democratic governor's 1962 re-election victory over former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Highway Patrol Capt. L. G. Williams said the Champions disappeared from their Sacramento home sometime between midnight and 6 a.m. Their absence was not discovered, however, until Champion failed to keep a 9 a.m. appointment with Brown in the capitol.

The Champions' 12-year-old son, Tommy, was found asleep at home, with no knowledge of what had happened. The house is about four miles from where the fugitives were last seen.

Police were warned not to try to stop the Champions' car for fear their abductors might harm them.

The fugitive gunmen, Wilfred Marion Gray, 30, and Carl Cletes Bowles, 24, were charged with robbery of a Portland bank Tuesday and the murder that night of Deputy Sheriff Carlton E. Smith, who had stopped their car near Springfield, Ore.

Shortly after the deputy was gunned down with a shotgun blast and six pistol bullets, the men appeared at the Springfield home of Mrs. David Corbin, 33. She and her 12-year-old son, Clinton Clark, were forced to drive the men away in the Corbin car.

The car was found abandoned and disabled in the Cascade Mountains, 125 miles from Springfield.

At that spot the recently released convicts commandeered a camper truck with four persons, thrust Mrs. Corbin and her son inside, and forced the group to drive to Sacramento.

The men abandoned the camper on a downtown street after threatening the six hostages. The six drove west 25 miles to Woodland, Calif., before reporting.

Ogallala (AP) — A 20-year-old Lexington man drowned in Lake McConaughy Thursday, the second drowning in six days at the lake.

Sheriff Ivan Armstrong said that James Hagan was sunning on an airmattress on the north shore of the lake, about two miles west of Kingsley Dam. Wind blew the mattress toward the center of the lake and it overturned. The officer said Hagan could not swim.

The body was recovered by fireman and sheriff's officers.

Hagan was married and the father of a five-month-old baby. The couple was to celebrate their wedding anniversary Friday. They were at the lake with another Lexington couple, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Grayek.

. . . NO POLICY CHANGE SEEN

Washington (AP) — Gen. Maxwell Taylor is stepping out as ambassador to South Viet Nam, citing a commitment to serve only one year, and will be replaced by the man he succeeded, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr.

Announcing this Thursday, the White House said President Johnson has asked Lodge and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to fly to Saigon next Wednesday to confer with Taylor and other U.S. and Vietnamese officials.

Quit To Campaign

Lodge, after serving about a year, resigned as ambassador to Saigon about 13 months ago to take part in the presidential campaign and Johnson named Taylor, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to succeed him.

Lodge has kept close to the situation since his appointment last spring as a special consultant to the President. He later undertook special missions seeking to enlist policy and manpower support for the U.S. position in the strife-ridden Southeast Asian country.

Administration officials foresaw no changes in policy stemming from the shift. Both men have advocated strong pressure on the Viet Cong guerrillas to assure peace and independence for South Viet Nam.

'Noble Thing Going On'

"Something noble and brave is going on out there and I am glad to have this chance to help," Lodge told newsmen at Beverly, Mass. "I am deeply honored by this mark of confidence and shall spare no effort to justify it."

The White House said Lodge hopes to take over at Saigon by the middle of August.

The reappointment of Lodge, a prominent Republican, was interpreted by some observers as a move to improve prospects for bipartisanship on Viet Nam policy. While Republicans generally have endorsed a get-firm policy, there has been criticism of some specific phases.

House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, for one, has been calling for increased use of U.S. air and naval power against the Communist north and against Soviet-supplied antiaircraft missile sites.

Calls For Explanation

Ford issued this statement after Thursday's announcement:

"The appointment of a new United States ambassador in South Viet Nam at this critical time is very perplexing. The President should give a clear, detailed explanation to the American people if this switch in high-level diplomatic assignments from Gen. Maxwell Taylor to Ambassador Lodge means a change in the United States foreign policy of firmness aganst Communist aggression."

An exchange of correspondence between Johnson and Taylor said that at the time of his appointment, Taylor had an agreement with the President to serve only a year for personal reasons. Taylor noted that more than a year has passed.

It was understood Taylor felt he had an obligation to his wife to retire to private life after some 45 years of government service. This feeling, it was said, was intensified following the death of his wife's sister earlier this year.

Mercy Killing, Suicide

The sister-in-law, Miss Mary Happer, 61, who was ill with cancer, was shot and killed in a Philadelphia nursing home in April. Her closest friend, Miss Dorothy Butts, had visited her. Later, Miss Butts was found dead in her automobile with a bullet in her head. She left a note saying she had killed Miss Happer. Police called it a mercy killing and suicide.

Accepting the resignation in a "Dear Max" letter, Johnson said he did so "only because I am bound to honor the understanding we had. . ."

Announcement of the change was made by Johnson's new press secretary, Bill D. Moyers.

It was understood that U. Alexis Johnson, who was named deputy ambassador at Saigon when Taylor was appointed, would remain in that post.

Canada Plane Goes Down; No Survivors

Vancouver, B.C. (AP)—A Canadian Pacific Airlines DC6B crashed Thursday afternoon in the rugged cariboo country about 170 miles northeast of here and rescue officials at the scene said there were no survivors.

Airline officials said a last-minute crush to get aboard the flight left them unsure her husband's divorce ac- were aboard. The official figure was arrived at by counting boarding passes.

MEDICARE VOTE SET IN SENATE

Washington (AP) — Talk-provoking amendments fore-stalled Senate leaders' efforts to pass a medicare bill Thursday night, but a debate-limiting agreement set up a final vote on the history-making measure late Friday.

The majority leader, Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., obtained consent to limit debate to one hour on each amendment, two hours on a motion to return the bill to committee and two hours on final passage.

Opponents and proponents alike agreed that the Senate will join the House in approving an unprecedented program of hospital and medical care for the elderly untouched in any major way by a series of amendments.

GOPs Easily Handled

Most of Thursday's amendments came from the outnumbered Republicans and were easily disposed of by the administration forces.

Some of the futile efforts to alter the bill centered not on the health-care aspects but on the other portion of the dual measure, the provision for a seven per cent increase in old-age retirement benefits under the Social Security program.

One two-hour period of debate preceded the voice-vote defeat of an amendment by Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., to accept the tax treatment of tips as set up in the House-passed bill.

The House bill would require an employe to report his tips to his employer if they exceed $20 a month. The employer then would withhold Social Security taxes from the tip money and match the employe's payment, as is done on regular wages and salaries.

Self-Employment

The Senate Finance Committee voted instead to have tips regarded as self-employment income with only the employe paying Social Security taxes on them, and at a higher rate than he pays on wages.

In action on other amendments the Senate:

—defeated by voice vote an effort by Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., to substitute an entirely voluntary, federally assisted system of health insurance for the bill's Social Security-financed and voluntary provisions.

—defeated, 51 to 41, an amendment by Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., which would have required a beneficiary under the Social Security-hospital care section of the bill to pay the $40 deductible already in the bill or the equivalent of his previous year's income tax, whichever was ever higher.

Similarly, an enrollee under the voluntary doctors' care part of the bill would have been required to pay the $50 deductible or the equivalent of his income tax of the previous year, whichever was higher.

—accepted by voice vote an amendment by Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, to permit aliens to qualify for both hospital and supplemental health plans with six months' residency. The bill had set a 10-year requirement.

Indigent Children

—adopted by voice vote a proposal by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., to set up a new program of federal aid to help pay medical costs of indigent children not now on the aid to dependent children program. This is similar to the Kerr-Mills provision for indigent children.

—approved by voice vote an amendment by Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., to make available immediately increased benefits under the new broadened Kerr-Mills program if a state could comply substantially with all the new requirements for the increased federal aid.

The severest denunciation of the measure as a whole came from Curtis, who said "it is not only socialism—it is brazen socialism."

Curtis asserted that poor and handicaped persons "will be taxed to pay doctor bills and hospital bills for many who are better able to pay their own bills."

PLANNING AHEAD . . . Novak and centennial "oxen."

Ox Team Prepared For Centennial

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Geneva — Bill Novak believes the whole state should start planning early for the Nebraska centennial — and that's no bum steer.

Proof on the hoof that his own plans started three years early is the young "ox team" already being trained for the 1967 celebrations. Specially bred they were — and that's no yoke.

The three-month-old buckskins, still unnamed, are the offspring of a Brown Swiss bull mated to two of Novak's Guernsey cows. Former county agent Elbert Loewenstein had suggested the combination.

"We wanted the Swiss for size and the Guernsey to give a rangy look like real oxen," explained the experimenting farmer.

Son Tom, a 12-year-old 4-Her, had the calves in halter by the time they were a month old. A covered wagon to match the team is being fashioned by the Geneva Grange, and John Wilkins' county centennial commission is already eyeing the parade project.

Even planned parenthood has its risks, however, and it wasn't intended that one calf be male and the other female. The steer will probably grow too large to make a perfect pair.

Another undesirable for the "oxen" — horns several inches short of authenticity—can be easily remedied.

"They'll have enough horn on them for a starter," grinned Novak. "Then we'll bolt on more of any size we want."

In action on other amendments the Senate:

—defeated by voice vote an effort by Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., to substitute an entirely voluntary, federally assisted system of health insurance for the bill's Social Security-financed and voluntary provisions.

—defeated, 51 to 41, an amendment by Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., which would have required a beneficiary under the Social Security-hospital care section of the bill to pay the $40 deductible already in the bill or the equivalent of his previous year's income tax, whichever was even higher.

Similarly, an enrollee under the voluntary doctors' care part of the bill would have been required to pay the $50 deductible or the equivalent of his income tax of the previous year, whichever was higher.

—accepted by voice vote an amendment by Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, to permit aliens to qualify for both hospital and supplemental health plans with six months' residency. The bill had set a 10-year requirement.

Indigent Children

—adopted by voice vote a proposal by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., to set up a new program of federal aid to help pay medical costs of indigent children not now on the aid to dependent children program. This is similar to the Kerr-Mills provision for indigent children.

—approved by voice vote an amendment by Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., to make available immediately increased benefits under the new broadened Kerr-Mills program if a state could comply substantially with all the new requirements for the increased federal aid.

The severest denunciation of the measure as a whole came from Curtis, who said "it is not only socialism—it is brazen socialism."

Curtis asserted that poor and handicaped persons "will be taxed to pay doctor bills and hospital bills for many who are better able to pay their own bills."

PLANNING AHEAD . . . Novak and centennial "oxen."

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Geneva — Bill Novak believes the whole state should start planning early for the Nebraska centennial — and that's no bum steer.

Proof on the hoof that his own plans started three years early is the young "ox team" already being trained for the 1967 celebrations. Specially bred they were — and that's no yoke.

The three-month-old buckskins, still unnamed, are the offspring of a Brown Swiss bull mated to two of Novak's Guernsey cows. Former county agent Elbert Loewenstein had suggested the combination.

"We wanted the Swiss for size and the Guernsey to give a rangy look like real oxen," explained the experimenting farmer.

Son Tom, a 12-year-old 4-Her, had the calves in halter by the time they were a month old. A covered wagon to match the team is being fashioned by the Geneva Grange, and John Wilkins' county centennial commission is already eyeing the parade project.

Even planned parenthood has its risks, however, and it wasn't intended that one calf be male and the other female. The steer will probably grow too large to make a perfect pair.

Another undesirable for the "oxen" — horns several inches short of authenticity—can be easily remedied.

"They'll have enough horn on them for a starter," grinned Novak. "Then we'll bolt on more of any size we want."

Vietnamese Battalion Apparently Wiped Out

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—Viet Cong ambushers hit a South Vietnamese government battalion 37 miles northwest of this city Thursday as if to draw attention from battle reverses suffered by the Red guerrillas at two other points in the Saigon region

A U.S. spokesman said most of the battalion, a force of perhaps 300 soldiers accompanied by four American advisers, apparently was wiped out. A survivor reported casualties were heavy The fate of the four Americans was not determined.

It was a different story in concurrent operations in the D-Zone jungle to the east and the Mekong delta to the south.

A 2,500-man task force of U S paratroopers, Australian infantrymen and South Vietnamese soldiers pushed through sporadic opposition on the third day of a mission to destroy the Viet Cong, their defenses and settlements in a jungle sector 25 to 30 miles northeast of Saigon

Biggest Engagements

It was estimated the American paratroopers alone, fighting their biggest engagements of the war, killed, wounded or captured more than 100 of the Red enemy Wednesday. The bodies of 25 were counted.

In a section of the Mekong delta 70 miles southwest of Saigon, government troops pressed an offensive through its fourth day. The U.S. spokesman said they have killed 78 Viet Cong and captured seven.

U.S. Marines were in action too, four companies engaging a Viet Cong band near the Chu Lai beachhead, 330 miles northeast of Saigon. A spokesman said they killed six Viet Cong and captured 14 while losing one Marine dead and two wounded.

Fresh landings at Da Nang and Qui Nhon, which flank Chu Lai on the South China Sea coast, brought to 5,500 the announced number of Marines moved to Viet Nam in the 8,000-man buildup launched Wednesday The spokesman said the reinforcements include one battalion of 105mm artillery and a squadron of 24 F8 Crusader jets

70 Planes Hit North

About 70 U.S. warplanes pursued the aerial campaign against North Viet Nam, with the army barracks at Thanh Hao as a major target. A spokesman said damage of 50 to 75% was inflicted on areas of the barracks, 80 miles south of Hanoi, in successive strikes by U.S. Air Force planes. Fifteen made the first run and 20 the second

Propaganda leaflets, intended to impede Hanoi's war effort and win converts for Saigon among the North Vietnamese, were showered on Dien Bien Phu and Son La, far west-northwest of Saigon, by four F105 Thunderchiefs.

U.S. Navy planes staged two attacks on the Qui Hau ammunition depot 45 miles south of Hanoi.

B52 Raids Protested

North Viet Nam, which has complained repeatedly to the International Control Commission against the raids north of the 17th Parallel, filed a protest against the bombing of Viet Cong positions in the D-Zone jungle Monday and Wednesday by Guam-based B52 jets of the U S. Strategic Air Command. Radio Hanoi said the charge was that use of the B52s violated the 1954 Geneva agreements on Viet Nam.

Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap contended in an interview published by the Cairo magazine Al Mussawar that the North Vietnamese people face the air attacks unconcernedly, "the same as if it were merely raining."

The commander of Communist-led forces that won the Indochina War at Dien Bien Phu in 1954, he declared the United States will meet in Viet Nam the same disaster that befell France.

No. Korea May Help Viet Cong

Tokyo (AP)—North Korea declared Thursday it will supply the Viet Cong with weapons and equipment if South Korea sends troops "massively" to South Viet Nam.

The statement was issued by the Communist government in protesting the proposed dispatch of a South Korean combat division to South Viet Nam.

North Korea has stated it would send volunteers to Viet Nam if the Viet Cong guerrillas ask for help.

Bitter Babel Stirred By Wilson's Leftist Aide's Mission To Hanoi

Davies

Harold Davies, 60, took off secretly Tuesday under orders to get a dialogue started" with North Viet Nam war. At his side to keep him briefed was Foreign Office diplomat Donald Murray.

However, reports reaching London indicated that Murray was not admitted to North Viet Nam and had to stay behind in Vientiane, capital of neighboring Laos Davies apparently went on to Hanoi alone

But inside and outside Parliament controversy flared as to why and how Davies— a deputy minister of pensions —should have been chosen to try to bring East and West together

Conservative opposition leaders Sir Alec Douglas-Home and Reginald Maudling peppered Wilson with questions in the House of Commons:

Why send Davies when the North Vietnamese were unwilling to accept ex-Foreign Secretary Patrick Gordon Walker or even Wilson himself; who would he be speaking for? What were his orders, would he stick to Britain's official policy of backing the Johnson administration?

And Douglas-Home added a warning to Wilson to beware of the dangers of appeasing the Communists.

Wilson, in aggressive mood, seemed to see red at that.

"Should there be any question of my wanting any lessons in appeasement I know who to . . ." he began. It was clear he intended recalling Douglas-Home's past. The opposition leader was private secretary to the late Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain who signed the 1938 Munich pact with Adolf Hitler.

Pandemonium followed in Commons.

Laborites claimed they heard a Conservative call Wilson "a swine."

Amid stormy scenes, Wilson made these points about Davies' mission:

—He was going as a member of the government and would, of course, stick with official government policy.

—His choice was unusual, but in a situation where no normal contacts of communication existed, unusual methods had to be employed.

—It was precisely because Davies is "highly respected" in Hanoi by Ho and his colleagues—in other words because he is a left-winger — that he is held to have a fairer chance than most people of arranging something.

—The U.S. government was informed but not consulted there could be no question of seeking Washington's permission.

Despite Wilson's defense of the undertaking a mood of unease was apparent not only in Parliament but also among veteran British diplomats. That unease was underscored by conflicting accounts of just how Davies was given facilities by the North Vietnamese to visit Hanoi after successive informal approaches had been rebuffed.

Robber Kidnaps Sensitive Girl, 9

Kansas City, Mo. (UPI) — A freckle-faced 9-year-old girl described by her mother as highly sensitive was kidnaped early Thursday during a robbery at a motel operated by her grandparents.

Red-haired Denise Clinton was apparently whisked away from the couch were she lay sleeping less than 10 feet from the office where the $230 robbery occurred.

The bandit bound the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chelsea Reynolds, and left them in a back room of the Great Plains Motel in Platte County.

Although no one saw the child being abducted, Mrs. Reynolds said as the gunman was forcing her toward the back room she noticed Denise asleep.

The Reynolds worked their way free from the adheisve tape with which they were bound, went to the office to call police and noticed the girl missing.

"There is nothing to conclude except that she has been kidnaped," Police Lt. Elza Hatfield said.

Police set up headquarters in the motel at the extreme northern edge of Kansas City and started an intensive search of the metropolitan area.

Denise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Russell Clinton of nearby Independence, Mo., had gone to her grandparents' motel Wednesday for a visit.

Awakened By Bell

Mrs. Reynolds said she was awakened about 2 a.m. Thursday by the night bell and went to the motel office. A white man about 30 years old wearing a light blue sports shirt asked for a room and she got out a card to register him as a guest.

"I laid the card down," Mrs. Reynolds said, "and when I looked up there was a gun on the counter."

The gunman told Mrs. Reynolds, "I want your money." He reached over the counter and took the bills from a cash drawer, then led her through the room where Denise was sleeping to another bedroom where Reynolds was in bed.

Speculate About Impulse

Police said it was likely the bandit noticed Denise on his way out and decided on impulse to take her.

If she screamed, her cries were not heard.

The girl, about 4 feet, 7 inches tall and weighing 80 pounds, was barefoot and had on a blue-checked mumu she used as a nightgown. Also missing were a pair of dark blue shorts and multi-colored blouse she wore Wednesday.

DENISE CLINTON

"I know she never woke up," Mrs. Reynolds said. "She was sound asleep. I don't know why he'd ever bother her."

Clinton, service manager of an Independence car agency, and his wife, Betty, have another daughter, Diane, 6.

Few Clues

Police at first concentrated their search in a wooded area near the motel. Clues were meager.

Karl Dissly, agent in charge of the Kansas City FBI office, said he was "closely watching developments" and would cooperate with local authorities.

Normally, the FBI does not enter a kidnap case for 24 hours unless there is evidence earlier that violation of a federal law is involved.

Substitute Rights Plan Has Boomerang Effect

Washington (AP) — Southern support appeared Thursday to be having some boomerang effect upon a Republican-sponsored substitute for the administration's voting-rights bill.

A GOP strategist, who asked not to be identified, said the bill backed by House Republican leaders lost half a dozen Republican votes after a Southern Democrat urged its support by those who oppose federal efforts to guarantee Negroes' voting rights.

And supporters of the administration's bill asserted they have assurances of support from 30 Republicans, twice what they were counting on before the Southern Democrats rallied to the GOP bill.

As the third day of debate droned on, with no votes expected before Friday, the prospect of a Republican-Southern Democratic coalition on a civil rights measure occupied the attention of most members.

Speaker John W. McCormack, talking to newsmen before the session, said the appeal for support of the GOP bill by Rep. William M. Tuck, D-Va., had placed the Republicans "in a very untenable position."

Tuck, a former governor of Virginia, has said he hopes "every member opposed to these so-called voting rights bills will vote for the McCulloch substitute."

Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, is cosponsor of the GOP bill along with minority leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan.

The administration bill would bar literacy tests and provide for federal vote registrars in states where less than 50% of adults were registered or voted in 1964 elections. The GOP substitute would send federal registrars into any county, in any state, where 25 persons complained of discrimination — providing the complaint was found to be justified.

Moyers Succeeding Reedy As LBJ's Press Secretary

Washington (AP)—George E. Reedy bowed out as President Johnson's press secretary Thursday, taking an indefinite leave of absence, and was replaced by Bill D. Moyers.

Reedy said he faces a series of operations—perhaps as many as three—to correct a hereditary foot defect known as hammer toes, and was going on leave effective Thursday.

He told the President in a letter that he is "living with increasing agony."

Reedy Moyers

Moyers is a 31-year-old ordained Baptist minister who has been closely associated with Johnson since Moyers' student days at the University of Texas. While a student, he was assistant news editor at the Johnson family television-radio station in Austin, Tex.

Formerly deputy director of the Peace Corps, Moyers has been at the White House since the start of Johnson's tenure. He has been in charge of preparing the administration's legislative program, and since last fall has been the President's top aide.

Reedy, a hulking man with a shock of white hair and an ever-present pipe, is also a long-time Johnson associate. A former reporter for United Press International, he joined Johnson's staff when he was a senator, 13 years ago. He became press secretary in March 1964 when Pierre Salinger resigned. Reedy will be 48 next month.

'Trail' Funds Sought

For Promoting Midlands Route

Omaha (UPI) — Five "old west trail" states were asked Thursday to chip in $3,000 each to help finance promotion of the newly-developed historic route through the midlands.

The request came at a second meeting of the board of directors of the Old West Trail, held here Thursday. Representatives from the the five states — Nebraska, Montana, Wyoming and the Dakotas — attended the meeting.

Only Wyoming and Montana gave firm commitments for their states; the other representatives were sent back to confer with their governors over the matter. All agreed, however, that the money would be well spent and would bring millions in tourist dollars to the area.

It is estimated a budget of $25,000 would be needed for the program during its first year. It is hoped that a self-supporting foundation can eventually be formed to take the financial load off the states.

Nebraska Gov. Frank B. Morrison, the only governor at Thursday's meeting, agree to contact governors of the other four states. They would meet with the Old West Trails executive committee in Minneapolis later this month in conjunction with the national governors conference.

The full board will meet again to work further on the problem in Cheyenne, Wyo., July 30 in conjunction with Cheyenne's "Frontier Days" celebration. Further meetings have been scheduled for North Dakota and South Dakota, but no dates have been set.

North Dakota's delegation on the board said their Gov. William Guy is "very sympathetic" toward the program, but the source of the money must be determined before any promises can be made from that state. They said the funds would probably come from the North Dakota Highway Department.

South Dakota's answer was the same, but its delegation added it doubted South Dakota would hold back if the other states went along with the financing.

Morrison said he was sure Nebraska could find the money to continue participating in the program, too.

"Whenever you go to church, you have to expect to put into the collection," the governor quipped to the board members.

State Trooper Don Nieman and Sheriff Ralph Hall said the mishap occurred a short time before Frady's death.

Harold Willis of Union, who was following the motorcycle in his car, told officers he saw it zig-zag, then straighten up, zig-zag again and then apparently go out of control.

Frady was thrown from the cycle about 166 feet from where it went out of control, officers said.

He was a retired mechanic.

Blue Hill Bank Entry Attempted

Blue Hill (AP) — Doors to a storage area behind the Commercial Bank of Blue Hill were found forced open Thursday, but there was no indication the bank itself had been entered.

Village Marshal Bernard Strader said he discovered the break-in, but said the storage area was separated from the bank by a four-inch steel fire door. This was not opened.

Strader said nothing was reported missing.

Hasebroock Is Attempting To Confuse Tax Issue—Mitchell

Kearney (AP)—The state Democratic party Chairman John C. Mitchell Thursday charged Republican Douglas County Chairman Robert W. Hasebroock with "attempting to confuse the entire income tax controversy" by stating that the Democratic party opposes a vote of the people on important state issues.

Asserting that quite the opposite is true, Mitchell cited the change in the law for electing national convention delegates as evidence that it has been Republican leaders who have actually opposed having the people of Nebraska vote on crucial state issues.

Mitchell said, "in 1964 Republican party leadership worked hard to have national convention delegates selected at the state party convention in order to control the delegates, while the Democratic party favored, and I might add still favors, electing a large majority of those delegates by the people in the primary election."

The Kearney Democrat said, "more important, the Democratic party leadership favors having the people vote on the income tax bill, while GOP leadership has said nothing in regard to the income tax petition drive and possible referendum. In light of that fact, I think it would be advisable for Hasebroock to sound out his own party's opposition on the income tax, instead of sounding off with complete and total flasehoods about the Democratic party."

Southwest's Harvest In Full Swing

The wheat harvest is in full swing in Furnas, Hitchcock and Dundy Counties, the State Labor Department reported Thursday.

Hastings — About 12% of the crop harvested with the yield being the poorest in years due to weather.

Kearney-Holdrege — Harvest in full swing by noon of Wednesday. There is need for six men and eight to 10 machines with 3% of the crop harvested.

North Platte—Some cutting Thursday in Lincoln County. Expected to begin cutting south of Paxton and Grant communities July 10 with major cutting July 12.

Sidney — Expected start still July 15-20.

Alliance—Very little activity expected before July 20. Expected yield will be 65% of normal.

$369,000 School Issue Placed On Cambridge Ballot

Cambridge (AP) — A special election will be held in Cambridge Aug. 3 on a $369,000 bond issue proposal looking toward construction of additions to the existing high school building, purchasing a site and building a new elementary school.

This will be the fourth time the proposal has been before the electors of school District 21.

The last time a bond election was held a $290,000 bond proposal lost by 26 votes. A majority of 55% is required for approval.

Both City School Levies Unchanged

Falls City (AP)—The city and school governments will hold the line on taxes for the coming year. Both groups adopted budgets which will keep mill levies from changing.

For the third year running, the municipal mill levy will be 14.5 mills, while the school district levy will remain constant at 36 mills.

The city budget is for expenditures of $288,353, and the school district budget, for expenditures of $598,610. Both are down slightly from the previous year.

Fisherman's Biggest Catch Own Son, 4

McCook (UPI) — John Altberg of McCook went fishing and caught six fish and one boy . . . his own.

Altberg's three-year old son Mark was in the family car watching his father. Mark apparently managed to release the emergency brake and the car rolled about 45 feet and off a 12-foot embankment into the Hugh Butler Lake at the Red Willow Dam.

The car flipped over onto its top when it hit the water, but fortunately, the window was open.

The elder Altberg jumped into the four feet of water and with his first grasp, grabbed his son's leg and removed him from the car.

The car was described as a "muddy mess."

Mark was dripping wet, but he thought the whole thing was an amusing experience.

Gasoline Leak Is Blamed For Station Blast

State deputy fire marshal Lynn S. Crain said Thursday an explosion at an Alexandria station Wednesday night was caused by a gasoline leak.

Crain said gasoline found its way into the basement of the station, and fumes were apparently ignited by electrical wiring.

One man died in the blast and another was injured. The station was leveled and several Alexandria business places were damaged.

Crain said the source of the gas leak could not be determined until the rubble had been cleared from the site. He described the explosion as "terrific."

He said the wiring that set off the blast could have been either in the basement or one of the pumps outside the station.

According to Crain, pipes from three large underground tanks ran through the basement to the gasoline pumps.

Crain, who inspected the wrecked station earlier Thursday, said fumes from as little as five gallons of gasoline could have caused the explosion.

Galen Willard, 46, was killed by the blast as he sat on a chair in front of the Harrold service station.

'Trail' Funds Sought

For Promoting Midlands Route

Omaha (UPI) — Five "old west trail" states were asked Thursday to chip in $3,000 each to help finance promotion of the newly-developed historic route through the midlands.

The request came at a second meeting of the board of directors of the Old West Trail, held here Thursday. Representatives from the the five states — Nebraska, Montana, Wyoming and the Dakotas — attended the meeting.

Only Wyoming and Montana gave firm commitments for their states; the other representatives were sent back to confer with their governors over the matter. All agreed, however, that the money would be well spent and would bring millions in tourist dollars to the area.

It is estimated a budget of $25,000 would be needed for the program during its first year. It is hoped that a self-supporting foundation can eventually be formed to take the financial load off the states.

Nebraska Gov. Frank B. Morrison, the only governor at Thursday's meeting, agree to contact governors of the other four states. They would meet with the Old West Trails executive committee in Minneapolis later this month in conjunction with the national governors conference.

The full board will meet again to work further on the problem in Cheyenne, Wyo., July 30 in conjunction with Cheyenne's "Frontier Days" celebration. Further meetings have been scheduled for North Dakota and South Dakota, but no dates have been set.

North Dakota's delegation on the board said their Gov. William Guy is "very sympathetic" toward the program, but the source of the money must be determined before any promises can be made from that state. They said the funds would probably come from the North Dakota Highway Department.

South Dakota's answer was the same, but its delegation added it doubted South Dakota would hold back if the other states went along with the financing.

Morrison said he was sure Nebraska could find the money to continue participating in the program, too.

"Whenever you go to church, you have to expect to put into the collection," the governor quipped to the board members.

A Look At Venezuela

By MARQUIS CHILDS

(Note: William O. Dobler, The Star's editor, is out of town for a few days. Today's column is by Marquis Childs, currently on a fact-finding tour of Latin-America.)

CARACAS, Venezuela — Those of us who search for clues to what is happening or about to happen in the world customarily follow the East-West axis, with Europe and Asia a part of the beat. This reporter is starting out on the North-South axis to try in the aftermath of a political earthquake in the Dominican Republic to learn something of the state of what is conveniently lumped as Latin-America.

No Common Bond

It is one of those deceptive terms encouraging the illusion of a continent with a common viewpoint and common customs and traditions. Nothing could be further from the truth.

The range of difference in outlook and way of life is as great as, say, that between Massachusetts and New Mexico. And, instead of a common political bond as the United States, 20 nations—many of them hardly viable from the economic perspective—are beset by passionate national rivalries that pit them against one another. Venezuela is a good place to start. Great progress has been made here in land reform, education, housing in the countryside and in the cities, and in other areas. In less than three years 80,000 land titles have been transferred to landless peasants. If in the next few years this same rate of progress can be maintained, the task will be completed.

For five years—the longest period in the nation's history—Venezuela has had a stable, democratic government. The author of this triumph was Romulo Betancourt, who successfully held off a Castroite-communist-terrorist attack intended to bring him down and prevent last year's free election. His successor, President Raul Leoni, is quieter and more cautious. But he seems to have a firm grip on his job and on the country.

Unlike any other Latin-American country, Venezuela has the great advantage of a fabulously rich flow of oil. It is the third largest oil producer in the world, coming after the United States and the Soviet Union. Oil exports are 95 percent of the country's foreign exchange earnings and 40 percent of the oil is sold to the United States. This income pays for virtually all the government's spending for a broad program of social advance.

But the fact that the United States is the largest single purchaser and American companies, headed by Standard-Creole, are the biggest operators does not mean Venezuela is an American satellite. On the contrary, this helps to underscore the determined independence of a people who, after decades of dictatorship, want to keep their freedom. The Venezuelan Congress voted unanimously—one of the very few times in its history there was such a vote—to condemn the unilateral intervention of the United States, in the Dominican crisis. Minor demonstrations have been directed at the American embassy as well as machine-gun fire from terrorist guns. In the Organization of American States, Venezuela has abstained on almost every Dominican vote, including the issue of sending an OAS force to keep the peace in Santo Domingo.

But it is not so much these outward manifestations, the visitor is told, as a deeply rooted fear of American domination of the OAS and the subordination of all other Latin countries to American aims. This goes down to the right of individual nations to bring about social change in their own way without the fear of intervention by the colossus of the North.

The fear of communism is very real here and with good reason. The terrorist attack that has gone on for more than four years has been stepped up since the Dominican crisis. Despite increasing efforts by military and paramilitary forces, it continues. Yet any overt help from the outside is about the last thing the government wants.

The Inherent Pride

It is the precedent of Santo Domingo that is so unsettling. If it can happen there, the visitor from the North is asked, why cannot the same thing happen elsewhere? And who is to determine the circumstances under which it can or should happen? One of the problems for the American observer traveling the North-South axis is with the terms of reference as between a great power that too often takes for granted "the good neighbors" in the hemisphere and small struggling nations that barely keep above the lapping tides of political disarray and economic chaos. Pride and sensitivity go hand in hand in this relationshp. Along with this is an acute awareness that cultural traditions in many instances antedate those of North America.

CORE Did Right

The Congress of Racial Equality preserved its integrity during its recent convention in Durham, South Carolina, when it heeded the advice of its national director James Farmer and refused to take a position on the Viet Nam war. This was contrary to the suggestion of the Rev. Martin Luther King who saw a relationship between peace and the civil rights movement and would have taken action on both fronts.

CORE is a single purpose organization and it has its hands full. To add a peace crusade would have been like a man with his arms full of bowling pins deciding to help move a piano. Something would have to give, probably both the piano and the pins.

King was on speculative ground. Probably there is some relation between civil rights and peace. But there are an infinite number of other human activities which can also be called relative. A relationship in itself is not sufficient to change the course of CORE. The flaw in King's reasoning was in his dual approach to the Negro problem. He desires both a peaceful crusade and his goal of civil rights. But his peaceful crusade is a method and not in itself an end. It is racial equality that is the real payoff.

Certainly to divide the civil rights movement into two parts by adding the quest for world peace would tend to diminish the struggle for rights and there would provide little if any compensating advantage for the cause of peace.

It would not be wise to build a permanent organization on the issue of civil rights for that would continue the problem. What the United States needs most is an adequate solution in behalf of civil rights and thus end the problem.

The GOP Dilemma

Ray Bliss, the Republican national chairman, is proving that he knows a good deal more than most Republicans about the subject of what is the matter with his party.

He summed up most of it at a recent meeting of the party's chieftains. He wishes to challenge the Democrats in the cities. He desires a closer relationship with the youthful element and he wants a closer understanding of the problem of the minority groups, especially the Negroes.

That about sizes up the problem with accent on urban rapproachment. But it almost completely reverses the political course of the party in recent years. Interestingly enough it does not alter the principles of the party.

For a number of years it has been a Republican misconception that the Democratic party is the liberal party while conservatism is reflected in the Republican ranks. In actual fact there is about the same proportion of liberals in the Republican ranks of elected officials as in the Democratic party. But it has been the Democratic party which acknowledged the urban problems and treated with them. This has been the boon of the Democratic party because it has related its action where the growing portion of people reside. In contrast to that, the strongholds of Republicanism are in the areas where population is shrinking. It has reached the point where there are fewer than half as many senators and congressmen who are Republican and the national administrations have, with but one exception, been Democratic since the day of Herbert Hoover.

The Housing Bill

This week the House of Representatives passed an improved federal housing bill which should be of special interest to Nebraskans.

The areas of the bill which should be so are those pertaining to rural housing and to low cost homes for the elderly and the needy.

Included is a $3 million a year provision for insured mortgages on rural homes. So far as the funds go this will place rural home construction on a basis akin to urban homes. The benefits will be obvious. Lack of merchantability as such has always been a discouraging factor in rural new home building. The house figures as an improvement to the land and must be sold with the land, whereas an urban home is a merchantable unit in itself. Most farm homes have remained of the modest sort and many lack modern improvements.

Long term insured mortgages, such as FHA mortgages, should result in extensive new rural home building. This will make farm life more pleasant and act as a brake to the constant depletion of our rural population. Should the Senate view this measure with equal favor and it becomes a law, Nebraska can expect a long needed improvement.

The section pertaining to housing for the elderly provides for 3 per cent loans plus a supplemental payment which should equalize past provisions for elderly housing. It is a practical improvement to the Taft-Ellender housing act which provided low cost housing in a manner that depreciated privately constructed homes. This factor has restrained many communities from engaging in the privileges of the act. The new bill promises to bridge the gap satisfactorily.

Pals Affect Luci's Religious Views

WASHINGTON—Luci Baines Johnson first became interested in the Catholic Church through her friend Beth Jenkins, daughter of Walter Jenkins, onetime assistant to President Johnson. Beth has been a student at Marquette University, and it was she who helped Luci arrange her incognito trip to Milwaukee when the President spoke in Chicago last month.

Beth is about four years older than Luci, and the two girls long have been close friends.

At one time President Johnson expected both of his daughters to become Catholics, and so told Pat Brown of California, himself a Catholic convert.

This was because Lynda Bird, the eldest daughter, had been dating a Catholic boy for some time. The President and Mrs. Johnson have not tried to influence their daughters' religious views, but they have discreetly advised against early marriage.

That both Lynda and Luci have been squired by Catholic boys on so many occasions probably results from the fact that most of the military aides at the White House are Catholics. This is not by deliberate design, but rather because White House social duty is a volunteer matter, in addition to normal military duty. The young officers who serve at the White House must put in a full day with the Army, Navy, or Air Force, then work in the evening at the White House on top of this.

Apparently not as many Protestant or Jewish officers have applied for this extra duty as have Catholic officers. It has been discreetly suggested to the Pentagon that there might be more of a religious mixture, with a few Protestant and Jewish officers sent to the White House for social duty.

The United States and the Soviet Union may be experiencing strained relations, over North Viet Nam, but one of the most virulent institutional critics of Russia in the past, Georgetown University, is now awash with Russian schoolteachers. They are living in the dormitories and studying American methods of teaching English.

To those who knew Georgetown University in the past, this is just as revolutionary as the Bolshevik 1917 revolution. It illustrates the change in the Catholic Church and the innovations wrought by Pope John.

During the 1920-30's the forefront of anti-Russian opposition in the nation's capital was the famous Jesuit institution, Georgetown University. Its foreign service school was dominated by Reverend Edmund Walsh, who spoke repeatedly and effectively against any relations with Russia. He not only opposed Roosevelt's recognition of the Soviet Union in 1934, but once made a speech at the Air Force War college at Maxwell Field, Ala., advocating preventive war against the Soviet Union.

One-Man One-Vote Decision In Danger

WASHINGTON—Sen. Everett Dirksen, ever the exponent of free enterprise, is trying to preserve the greatest over-the-counter market in America. This informal institution deals in the buying and selling of legislative favors in the 50 states.

Its brokers are the lobbyists for every variety of interest, and the customers whom they shower with all manner of kind attentions, including the financial, are the state legislators. It has no rules, obeys no ethical code, and its motto is: "All the traffic will bear."

Very occasionally, when the more greedy overdo the act and scandal breaks out, public opinion steps in. After the cyclone passes, however, few legislatures enact the strong laws needed to regulate such conflicts of interest in the future.

All these comfortable arrangements, a commonplace in state politics, are now threatened by the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote reapportionment order. It was apparent from the start though strangely neglected in the comment, that the court's decision would create a whole new climate for the lobbying operations which plague every state capital.

This immense dividend, like one-man, one-vote, would be a casualty of the Dirksen constitutional amendment which proposes that one house of the state legislatures should be apportioned according to factors other than population. The amendment is a lifeline to the entrenched state lobbyists, an open invitation to use their great skills in a vast national effort to save their sanctuaries.

Civil rights advocates were slow to recognize that the fruits of President Johnson's historic voting rights bill could be snatched from them by the Dirksen amendment. It is true that a callous appeal has been made to Southerners on that ground, but important and well-financed lobbying has not come from the South.

Californians set up a committee early this year to make contact in all the states and assist with Congress. It then hired the celebrated firm of Whitaker and Baxter, which in five years of high-priced labor for the American Medical Association — 1948 to 1953 —Added "socialized medicine" to the language and probably staved off medicare until 1965.

The committee bears the dignified title of "Citizens Committee for Balanced Legislative Representation." Advisor Whitaker has yet to evolve another masterpiece in slogans but has a "coordinator" here to help the Dirksen forces. His own cautious forecast: "I think the amendment can succeed"

The heaviest pressures come from the state legislatures themselves. They are comfortable in their troughs. They are the most out-of-date governmental machinery in the nation, and the court's reapportioment decision was the direct result of their obdurate refusal to modernize themselves.

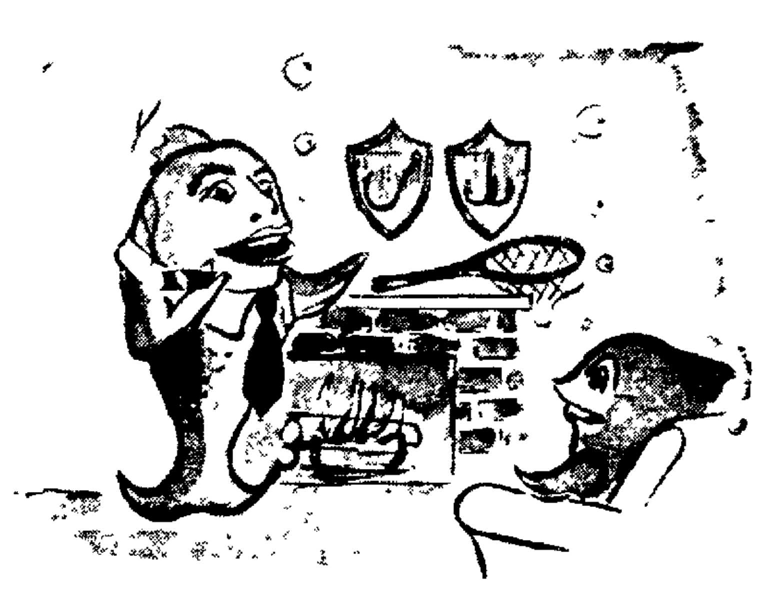
THE NEIGHBORS SAY

Billfold Full Of Whale's Teeth

By MONA B. PARKER



The Chadron Record called it "a fish story to end all fish stories," and it was that. It went like this. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Zeman and Mrs. Zeman's brother, Walt Vincent, were fishing at Whitney Lake. Mr. Vincent hooked a fish which broke his six-pound test leader and got away. Then Mrs. Zeman hooked the same fish, and it also broke her line and got away. Shortly thereafter, Mr. Vincent again hooked the same fish and kept it on the line until Mr. Zeman was able to assist in landing it. It had been hooked the third time in the bobber of the first line. All the lost fishing tackle was recovered from what turned out to be a five-pound blue catfish.

Little boys and summertime appetites are the same, all over . . .

One Hastings grandmother has been entertaining two small grandsons, come to visit for awhile. Her one and only complaint is that she doesn't have room for anything in her refrigerator except watermelon . . .

☆ ☆ ☆

A peculiar problem, which is more in the nature of a nuisance, has developed for at least one family living several miles from the Platte River in Buffalo County. With excessive rains continuing, much of their farmyard has been under water, and frog life has almost taken over. They have developed legs and hop about, still have their tails, giving them rather an odd appearance. And their vocalizing does nothing for the family's peace of mind.

☆ ☆ ☆

When alumni get together, J. C. Crosland comments in the Mullen publication that there is usually a bit of a shock among those who gather to reminisce. He himself, for instance, can't help but notice in any such gathering how former friends and classmates have aged, "while I am yet my same old peppy, young-looking, slim self."

"Of course, my hair is thinner and not quite the same color. I wear tri-focals instead of plain glass. It is a constant struggle to keep my own teeth. My largest measurement is now around my waist and not my chest. And I can't stay up as late as often. But these are mere trifles. It's too bad about the rest of the class."

☆ ☆ ☆

We may soon have more silver in our hair, observes Harold Spence of the Holdrege Citizen, but less in the jingle-jangle in our pockets. Or, if Uncle Sam gets to the point where he can't afford to put silver in coins, at all, they may not jingle-jangle at all, but give out with nothing more exciting than a dull thud.

Maybe it would be better all around, suggests Editor Spence, simply to decide on a completely new substitute in the line of trade and barter. He offers the suggestion of giraffe tails, used in parts of Africa — red parrot feathers, used by natives of the Santa Cruz islands — or whale's teeth, which are legal tender in the Fiji Islands.

Coins aren't worth much, any more, anyhow, he consoles himself and readers. What a single coin used to purchase now requires considerable folding money.

☆ ☆ ☆

One character in Adams County is of the opinion that if the government switches over to using a substitute for silver coins, it should also find a two-way stretch material with which to make bills.

A Nebraska publication carried the following as a little joke:

"Sign on a Podunk service station: 'We collect taxes—federal, state and local. We also sell gasoline as a sideline.' "

But it's really not such a joke, after all. It's more nearly the complete truth . . .

Art Brown explains the situation, in the Friend Sentinel . . .

A curious thing about gasoline, says Mr. Brown, is that it is so cheap. Take away the taxes and the average price of a gallon of gas is about 20 cents.

"Distilled water costs about 65 cents a gallon, milk sells for 95 cents a gallon and root beer costs $1. Without taxes, gasoline sells for nearly 10 cents a gallon less than it did in 1920."

Equal Taxation

Unadilla, Neb.

I would like to thank the governor for not vetoing the income tax bill, No. 797. But I think he should have signed it. I also think he should work for a more equal tax system. I think he is protecting the high income groups.

Omaha's high income group has 30 percent of the income of the state and the nerve to try to repeal the income tax. They would like to see all the taxes pushed onto the low-income property owners.

The low-income farmers and laboring people who are trying to pay for their homes and farms cannot stand any increase in property taxes. Their incomes will simply not permit it. Farmers are being forced off the farms every year, as it is. Farming expenses are out of reason, compared to income received. This combination will result in the confiscation of private property.

Farmers haven't had a chance, because they have had to take what is given them, but pay the prices asked for the things they must buy.

I suggest that all property owners refuse to sign the petition to repeal the income tax. I suggest also that we have a chance to sign a petition to repeal the property tax. If we cannot have a fair and honest tax system, let's quit until we get one. If we repeal the income tax, we will increase our property taxes out of reason.

MELVILLE E. CRANDELL

Why Worry?

Lincoln, Neb.

It is hard to understand why Attorney General Clarence Meyer would make the statement that if 10% of the electors who voted last November signed a petition asking for a referendum on the state income tax law, the state government would be unable to set up the machinery to get the law going. I am wondering if it was not an attempt on his part to scare the people into not signing the petition. If it is such a good law, why should they worry?

We might look at a state which has a broadened tax base. Michigan, one of the richest states in the country, has had financial difficulties twice since 1959. Nebraska, without such a broadened tax base, has a surplus and has paid as it went along.

Governor Morrison has failed to show leadership ever since the question of a broadened tax base came up. I do not feel that it is entirely his fault, since his own party has failed to back him up because of a split in their ranks.

I sincerely hope 200,000 valid signatures are on the petition.

They Can Change

Chicago, Ill.

Responsibility is a two-way street. Public officials who, in many instances, enjoy immunity from arrest on their way to and from their offices, as well as other immunities which the lay citizenry does not enjoy, cannot work both sides of the street so far as responsibility is concerned. They cannot say, for example, in effect to the lay citizenry in America and get away with it, "I can say what I like for publication with immunity, but you dare not express your disagreement with my views through anonymous public forum letters printed in the newspapers. Hereafter, you gotta sign your name, give your address, and the name and address of the printer, so you do!" That kind of formula will not go in America.

Labor learned long that one man dare not go to the boss alone with a complaint or a request for a pay increase without running the risk of being fired. And he often was fired for that. Therefore, labor organized.

The dictators of the West in the past—Caesar, Napoleon, Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin, to name a few—were absolute, it is true — for a whole. But it would be difficult to find where their ashes are buried now, except possibly for Napoleon and Stalin.

If public officials are not able to meet the challenge of the lay citizenry to their views expressed through anonymous public form letters printed in the newspapers, there is always at least one thing they can do. They can change from bad politics to good politics.

Outdated System

DuBois, Neb.

In their typical childish manner, the opponents of the state income tax bill are rushing into their selfish and destructive task with great enthusiasm.

It would seem as though if these persons could take what little intelligence they possess, combine it with their enthusiasm and direct this combination toward a constructive purpose, we could really have a greatly improved State of Nebraska.

I find it difficult to believe that there are many people in this state who are actually so naive as to believe that a ridiculously, outdated, unfair, and inadequate tax system such as our present one can be used much longer.

The benefits will be obvious. Lack of merchantability as such has always been a discouraging factor in rural new home building. The house figures as an improvement to the land and must be sold with the land, whereas an urban home is a merchantable unit in itself. Most farm homes have remained of the modest sort and many lack modern improvements.

Long term insured mortgages, such as FHA mortgages, should result in extensive new rural home building. This will make farm life more pleasant and act as a brake to the constant depletion of our rural population. Should the Senate view this measure with equal favor and it becomes a law, Nebraska can expect a long needed improvement.

The section pertaining to housing for the elderly provides for 3 per cent loans plus a supplemental payment which should equalize past provisions for elderly housing. It is a practical improvement to the Taft-Ellender housing act which provided low cost housing in a manner that depreciated privately constructed homes. This factor has restrained many communities from engaging in the privileges of the act. The new bill promises to bridge the gap satisfactorily.

Pals Affect Luci's Religious Views

WASHINGTON—Luci Baines Johnson first became interested in the Catholic Church through her friend Beth Jenkins, daughter of Walter Jenkins, onetime assistant to President Johnson. Beth has been a student at Marquette University, and it was she who helped Luci arrange her incognito trip to Milwaukee when the President spoke in Chicago last month.

Beth is about four years older than Luci, and the two girls long have been close friends.

At one time President Johnson expected both of his daughters to become Catholics, and so told Pat Brown of California, himself a Catholic convert.

This was because Lynda Bird, the eldest daughter, had been dating a Catholic boy for some time. The President and Mrs. Johnson have not tried to influence their daughters' religious views, but they have discreetly advised against early marriage.

That both Lynda and Luci have been squired by Catholic boys on so many occasions probably results from the fact that most of the military aides at the White House are Catholics. This is not by deliberate design, but rather because White House social duty is a volunteer matter, in addition to normal military duty. The young officers who serve at the White House must put in a full day with the Army, Navy, or Air Force, then work in the evening at the White House on top of this.

Apparently not as many Protestant or Jewish officers have applied for this extra duty as have Catholic officers. It has been discreetly suggested to the Pentagon that there might be more of a religious mixture, with a few Protestant and Jewish officers sent to the White House for social duty.

The United States and the Soviet Union may be experiencing strained relations, over North Viet Nam, but one of the most virulent institutional critics of Russia in the past, Georgetown University, is now awash with Russian schoolteachers. They are living in the dormitories and studying American methods of teaching English.

To those who knew Georgetown University in the past, this is just as revolutionary as the Bolshevik 1917 revolution. It illustrates the change in the Catholic Church and the innovations wrought by Pope John.

During the 1920-30's the forefront of anti-Russian opposition in the nation's capital was the famous Jesuit institution, Georgetown University. Its foreign service school was dominated by Reverend Edmund Walsh, who spoke repeatedly and effectively against any relations with Russia. He not only opposed Roosevelt's recognition of the Soviet Union in 1934, but once made a speech at the Air Force War college at Maxwell Field, Ala., advocating preventive war against the Soviet Union.

One-Man One-Vote Decision In Danger

WASHINGTON—Sen. Everett Dirksen, ever the exponent of free enterprise, is trying to preserve the greatest over-the-counter market in America. This informal institution deals in the buying and selling of legislative favors in the 50 states.

Its brokers are the lobbyists for every variety of interest, and the customers whom they shower with all manner of kind attentions, including the financial, are the state legislators. It has no rules, obeys no ethical code, and its motto is: "All the traffic will bear."

Very occasionally, when the more greedy overdo the act and scandal breaks out, public opinion steps in. After the cyclone passes, however, few legislatures enact the strong laws needed to regulate such conflicts of interest in the future.

All these comfortable arrangements, a commonplace in state politics, are now threatened by the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote reapportionment order. It was apparent from the start though strangely neglected in the comment, that the court's decision would create a whole new climate for the lobbying operations which plague every state capital.

This immense dividend, like one-man, one-vote, would be a casualty of the Dirksen constitutional amendment which proposes that one house of the state legislatures should be apportioned according to factors other than population. The amendment is a lifeline to the entrenched state lobbyists, an open invitation to use their great skills in a vast national effort to save their sanctuaries.

Civil rights advocates were slow to recognize that the fruits of President Johnson's historic voting rights bill could be snatched from them by the Dirksen amendment. It is true that a callous appeal has been made to Southerners on that ground, but important and well-financed lobbying has not come from the South.

Californians set up a committee early this year to make contact in all the states and assist with Congress. It then hired the celebrated firm of Whitaker and Baxter, which in five years of high-priced labor for the American Medical Association — 1948 to 1953 —Added "socialized medicine" to the language and probably staved off medicare until 1965.

The committee bears the dignified title of "Citizens Committee for Balanced Legislative Representation." Advisor Whitaker has yet to evolve another masterpiece in slogans but has a "coordinator" here to help the Dirksen forces. His own cautious forecast: "I think the amendment can succeed."

The heaviest pressures come from the state legislatures themselves. They are comfortable in their troughs. They are the most out-of-date governmental machinery in the nation, and the court's reapportioment decision was the direct result of their obdurate refusal to modernize themselves.

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

Billfold Full Of Whale's Teeth

By MONA B. PARKER

Little boys and summertime appetites are the same, all over . . .

One Hastings grandmother has been entertaining two small grandsons, come to visit for awhile. Her one and only complaint is that she doesn't have room for anything in her refrigerator except watermelon . . .

A peculiar problem, which is more in the nature of a nuisance, has developed for at least one family living several miles from the Platte River in Buffalo County. With excessive rains continuing, much of their farmyard has been under water, and frog life has almost taken over. They have developed legs and hop about, still have their tails, giving them rather an odd appearance. And their vocalizing does nothing for the family's peace of mind.

The Chadron Record called it "a fish story to end all fish stories," and it was that. It went like this. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Zeman and Mrs. Zeman's brother, Walt Vincent, were fishing at Whitney Lake. Mr. Vincent hooked a fish which broke his six-pound test leader and got away. Then Mrs. Zeman hooked the same fish, and it also broke her line and got away. Shortly thereafter, Mr. Vincent again hooked the same fish and kept it on the line until Mr. Zeman was able to assist in landing it. It had been hooked the third time in the bobber of the first line. All the lost fishing tackle was recovered from what turned out to be a five-pound blue catfish.

When alumni get together, J. C. Crosland comments in the Mullen publication that there is usually a bit of a shock among those who gather to reminisce. He himself, for instance, can't help but notice in any such gathering how former friends and classmates have aged, "while I am yet my same old peppy, young-looking, slim self."

"Of course, my hair is thinner and not quite the same color. I wear tri-focals instead of plain glass. It is a constant struggle to keep my own teeth. My largest measurement is now around my waist and not my chest. And I can't stay up as late as often. But these are mere trifles. It's too bad about the rest of the class."

☆ ☆ ☆

We may soon have more silver in our hair, observes Harold Spence of the Holdrege Citizen, but less in the jingle-jangle in our pockets. Or, if Uncle Sam gets to the point where he can't afford to put silver in coins, at all, they may not jingle-jangle at all, but give out with nothing more exciting than a dull thud.

Maybe it would be better all around, suggests Editor Spence, simply to decide on a completely new substitute in the line of trade and barter. He offers the suggestion of giraffe tails, used in parts of Africa — red parrot feathers, used by natives of the Santa Cruz islands — or whale's teeth, which are legal tender in the Fiji Islands.

Coins aren't worth much, any more, anyhow, he consoles himself and readers. What a single coin used to purchase now requires considerable folding money.

☆ ☆ ☆

One character in Adams County is of the opinion that if the government switches over to using a substitute for silver coins, it should also find a two-way stretch material with which to make bills.

☆ ☆ ☆

A Nebraska publication carried the following as a little joke:

"Sign on a Podunk service station: 'We collect taxes—federal, state and local. We also sell gasoline as a sideline.' "

But it's really not such a joke, after all. It's more nearly the complete truth . . .

Art Brown explains the situation, in the Friend Sentinel . . .

A curious thing about gasoline, says Mr. Brown, is that it is so cheap. Take away the taxes and the average price of a gallon of gas is about 20 cents.

"Distilled water costs about 65 cents a gallon, milk sells for 95 cents a gallon and root beer costs $1. Without taxes, gasoline sells for nearly 10 cents a gallon less than it did in 1920."

Your Five Cents Worth

Brevity in letters is requested but length in itself will have no bearing in publication. Writers are advised that needless details and repetitious matter will be edited out of letters. Too frequent contributions from one person on the same subject may be rejected. All letters must be accompanied by writer's true name but may be submitted for publication under a pen name or initials. However, letters will be printed under a pen name or initials at the editor's discretion.

Equal Taxation

Unadilla, Neb.

I would like to thank the governor for not vetoing the income tax bill, No. 797. But I think he should have signed it. I also think he should work for a more equal tax system. I think he is protecting the high income groups.

Omaha's high income group has 30 percent of the income of the state and the nerve to try to repeal the income tax. They would like to see all the taxes pushed onto the low-income property owners.

The low-income farmers and laboring people who are trying to pay for their homes and farms cannot stand any increase in property taxes. Their incomes will simply not permit it. Farmers are being forced off the farms every year, as it is. Farming expenses are out of reason, compared to income received. This combination will result in the confiscation of private property.

Farmers haven't had a chance, because they have had to take what is given them, but pay the prices asked for the things they must buy.

I suggest that all property owners refuse to sign the petition to repeal the income tax. I suggest also that we have a chance to sign a petition to repeal the property tax. If we cannot have a fair and honest tax system, let's quit until we get one. If we repeal the income tax, we will increase our property taxes out of reason.

Why Worry?

Lincoln, Neb.

It is hard to understand why Attorney General Clarence Meyer would make the statement that if 10% of the electors who voted last November signed a petition asking for a referendum on the state income tax law, the state government would be unable to set up the machinery to get the law going. I am wondering if it was not an attempt on his part to scare the people into not signing the petition. If it is such a good law, why should they worry?

We might look at a state which has a broadened tax base. Michigan, one of the richest states in the country, has had financial difficulties twice since 1959. Nebraska, without such a broadened tax base, has a surplus and has paid as it went along.

Governor Morrison has failed to show leadership ever since the question of a broadened tax base came up. I do not feel that it is entirely his fault, since his own party has failed to back him up because of a split in their ranks.

I sincerely hope 200,000 valid signatures are on the petition.

They Can Change

Chicago, Ill.

Responsibility is a two-way street. Public officials who, in many instances, enjoy immunity from arrest on their way to and from their offices, as well as other immunities which the lay citizenry does not enjoy, cannot work both sides of the street so far as responsibility is concerned. They cannot say, for example, in effect to the lay citizenry in America and get away with it, "I can say what I like for publication with immunity, but you dare not express your disagreement with my views through anonymous public forum letters printed in the newspapers. Hereafter, you gotta sign your name, give your address, and the name and address of the printer, so you do!" That kind of formula will not go in America.

Labor learned long that one man dare not go to the boss alone with a complaint or a request for a pay increase without running the risk of being fired. And he often was fired for that. Therefore, labor organized.

The dictators of the West in the past—Caesar, Napoleon, Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin, to name a few—were absolute, it is true — for a whole. But it would be difficult to find where their ashes are buried now, except possibly for Napoleon and Stalin.

If public officials are not able to meet the challenge of the lay citizenry to their views expressed through anonymous public form letters printed in the newspapers, there is always at least one thing they can do. They can change from bad politics to good politics.

Outdated System

DuBois, Neb.

In their typical childish manner, the opponents of the state income tax bill are rushing into their selfish and destructive task with great enthusiasm.

It would seem as though if these persons could take what little intelligence they possess, combine it with their enthusiasm and direct this combination toward a constructive purpose, we could really have a greatly improved State of Nebraska.

I find it difficult to believe that there are many people in this state who are actually so naive as to believe that a ridiculously, outdated, unfair, and inadequate tax system such as our present one can be used much longer.

Another 'Great Train Robber' Escapes Prison

London (AP)—Another of Britain's great train robbers coolly climbed out of prison on a ladder Thursday and apparently vanished into the sprawling anonymity of London.

The daylight escape that freed Ronald A. Biggs and three other convicts from London's Wandsworth Prison was as carefully and deliberately organized as the train robbery itself, almost two years ago.

It involved three getaway cars, a ladder, a moving van with a special roof, an unknown number of outside accomplices, and a staged fight by convicts behind the walls to block the guards from reaching the escaping men.

The escape left perhaps one-quarter of the gang still at large and most of the loot unrecovered. The gang stopped the Glasgow-to-London mail train Aug. 8, 1963, and made off with 2.6 million pounds ($7.2 million) in bills. Twelve men were sentenced to a total of 307 years in prison. Charles Wilson, a 32-year-old bookie, escaped from prison last August, and three men named by police as masterminds have never been caught.

Lots of Clues

Police had plenty of clues to go on. A loaded shotgun was found in the abandoned moving van. Police broadcast the license numbers of the three Ford getaway sedans, and one was found outside the Wandsworth railway station.

Biggs, a 35-year-old criminal with a record of nine previous convictions, was doing a 30-year stretch. He made his getaway from the exercise yard with Eric Flower and Robert Anderson, both doing 12 years, and Anthony Jenkins, doing 4. These three had nothing to do with the train robbery, so far as the police know.

Twelve prisoners—all special escape risks — were walking around the prison yard in pleasant sunny weather. Outside the walls a moving van pulled up unnoticed. It had a hole cut in the roof and a special platform to bring the top within reach of the 20-foot wall.

From inside the prison, one of the four officers saw a man's head pop over the wall, then another. The two men sat on top of the wall and let down an aluminum ladder. It had hooks on top, so it dangled from the wall. The officers sounded the alarm bell, then started sprinting toward the wall as the escapers scrambled over.

But the eight remaining prisoners suddenly raised a commotion.

They jumped the officers and slugged them. By that time Biggs and the others were gone. Since the guards, like British police, were unarmed, there was no chance of shooting at the fleeing prisoners.

Women's Corps Critics Called Vocal Minority

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP)—The project manager of the controversial Women's Job Corps center here said the center was a success and that critics were a very vocal minority.

"This is the very first center for women and naturally it is a goldfish bowl," said June Henry, project manager for the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington.

"Every problem we will have, will come out here first."

She said that complaints of noise from elderly residents who live in retirement hotels in downtown St. Petersburg where the center is located were exaggerated.

Balance Of Payments, Gold Related

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

New York (AP)—If the United States eliminates its balance-of-payments deficit, it can virtually eliminate its gold loss.

If it develops a balance-of-payments surplus, it probably will increase its gold stock.

If the nation's balance of payments deficit persists, as it has in every year since 1949, except 1957, the nation's gold stock will continue to dwindle.

Those three "ifs" are at the root of the confusion and apparent contradictions of the current status of the U.S. gold and payments situations.

Why?

The answer is the dollar. The official U.S. government policy is that the dollar is as good as gold. It backs up that policy by guaranteeing to sell (or buy) gold at $35 a troy ounce, plus an 8¾-cent service charge.

When the U.S. has a balance-of-payments deficit it spends more overseas than it receives. When it has a deficit, some other country has a surplus in dealings with us.

Nations with a persistent surplus in their dealings with the United States, such as France and Germany, accumulate dollars. Altogether, foreign countries now hold about $24 billion in dollars, or U.S. securities readily convertible into dollars.

But the U.S. monetary gold stock now stands at $13,934,000,000.

And that pinpoints where the balance of payments problem becomes a gold problem. There are more potential claims on U.S. gold than there is gold.

Because foreign holders of dollars have been converting more and more of their dollars into gold, the U.S. balance of payments problem has become pressing.

It is unlikely that all of the foreign dollar claims on gold would be converted. The dollar is still the number one medium of international exchange.

But the United States knows it must either trim the amount of claims on gold — that is, somehow dry up the pool of overseas dollars—or face the threat of continued gold losses.

The U.S. deficit projected by some economists for 1965 is $1 billion. That would be about a third of the 1964 deficit.

Government officials have expressed optimism about the U.S. program to trim the deficit, despite the continued, though reduced, outflow.

Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler has indicated that the present voluntary program to trim the deficit is working so well that he is concerned about overoptimism. He contends the program must hold for at least a full year.

Meanwhile, the prospects are that more gold will leave the country.

Laser Beam To Be Used By Astronaut

Space Center, Houston (UPI)—U.S. astronaut James A. Lovell will try to make the world's first space-to-earth telephone call over a beam of light early next year—but he will need a sharpshooter's eye to make it work.

This much of America's upcoming first attempt at communications over an intense beam of laser light between the ground and an orbiting manned spaceship was revealed Thursday by Douglas Lilly, program manager for the experiment, and microwave-optics expert Woodie Thompson.

When he rides into space on a planned 14-day orbital voyage with fellow astronaut Frank Borman, possibly next January, Lovell will carry along a six-pound laser "ray gun."

U.S. Shows Surplus In Payments

Washington (UPI) — Administration officials said Thursday the United States showed a surplus in its international balance of payments during April, May and June. It was the first quarterly surplus in nearly eight years.

The officials gave no dollar figure but merely said it was now safe to assume that this country was in the black in its financial dealings with other countries during the second quarter of 1965.

The surplus was attributed to two factors, neither likely to be repeated. One was increased U.S. exports after settlement of the dock strike in January and February. The other was recall by U.S. corporations of funds invested in European money markets.

The deficit is running at an annual rate of about $1 billion, substantially better than the $3 billion deficit of 1964, but there are no grounds for complacency.

Mayor Petersen To Attend National Congress Of Cities

Mayor Dean Petersen will join more than 2,000 elected and appointed city officials in Detroit for the National League of Cities' 42nd annual Congress of Cities, July 24-28.

"Communities in Action" is this year's Congress theme.

Nationally prominent speakers, including Vice President Hubert Humphrey, will discuss the roles of business, labor, technolgoy, land policy, the church, education and communications as municipal resources for community action.

New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner, Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh and other mayors will address the Congress on topics ranging from combatting school drop-outs to social renewal.

Mayor Petersen said that the league is "a working organization. City officials can get something out of a meeting like this."

Petersen, as a member of the capitol city mayors committee, will take part in a discussion of mutual problems resulting from the location of local and state governments in the same city.

The National League of Cities, formerly called the American Municipal Association, represents 13,000 city and town governments in the United States.

Award Contract For Station B To Enterprise Corp.

Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb., released the information here that the contract for the construction of Station B of the Lincoln Post Office to be located at 14th and Arapahoe, has been awarded to the Enterprise Corporation of Lincoln.

The new station will have interior floor space of 7,507 square feet, a platform area of 1,230 square feet and a parking area of 18,786 square feet.

The building will cost an estimated $145,385 and will be leased to the government for a ten year period with four five year renewal options. The yearly rental for the structure will be $12,350.

Morrison's Grill Guilty Charges Are Overruled

Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele Thursday overruled a Lincoln Municipal Court ruling of June, 1964, finding Glenn Morrison, doing business as Morrison's Grill, at 1348 O, guilty on five counts of operating a cafe without a permit.

Judge Scheele found Morrison innocent of all five counts in an appeal by Morrison from the lower court where he was fined $25 on each count.

The city had contended that Morrison's permit to operate the cafe was suspended May 13, 1964, and "the defendant has continued to operate its place of business which constitutes a hazard to the eating public."

Morrison has since sold the cafe.

Control Of Billboards Challenged

The constitutionality of the State Roads Department's condemning property along the Interstate highway for the purpose of controlling billboards was challenged Thursday in a brief filed with the Nebraska Supreme Court.

In an appeal brought by Ray Wolfe, it was argued that present laws allow the taking of advertising control easements without just compensation to the property owner.

This, the brief contended, amounts to a violation of both the state and federal constitutions.

The Roads Department brought the condemnation action in Lancaster County Court after Wolfe turned down a $25 offer for advertising control on 80 acres of land along the Interstate highway north of Lincoln.

The county court awarded Wolfe $4,000, and the Roads Department appealed to the Lancaster District Court.

When the district court did not rule on the constitutional question raised by Wolfe's attorney, he appealed to the state's high court.

The brief charged that the state is engaging in a "scheme" to obtain "large sums of money from the federal government for the specific purpose of acquiring sign rights and then keeping the money for their own other expenditures.

"It is a scramble on behalf of the state to acquire these outdoor sign rights without a fair attempt to negotiate by forcing the condemee into court and condemee either spends prodigious amounts of time and money or he gets nothing."

University Board of Regents Hike Tuition, Fees, Effective This Fall

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents Thursday hiked tuition and fees effective this fall from $132 to $167 per semester for residents and from $300 to $430 for non-resident students.

On an academic year basis, the tuition increase amounts to $56 for Nebraska residents and $246 for non-residents, and the special fees for all students were increased $14 per year.

The tuition hike is essentially the same as the Legislature's recommendation of $60 per year for residents and $260 for non-residents, with no provision made specifically for special fees in the recommendation.

The Regents pointed out that they were reluctant to make the increases but that they were necessary to bring the University budget as close as possible to the $8.4 million increase which the Legislature approved for the University's biennial operations for 1965-67.

The Legislature granted the University a $3.45 million increase from the state general fund and proposed that the balance of the $8.4 million would have to come from tuition and fees, University sales and services, and from federal sources.

To attain the total, the Regents said it was necessary to gain more than $2.7 million through an increase in rates charged to students.

The Board also took action designed to help those students who will be severely affected financially by setting aside one-half of the total amount gained from the increase in special fees for scholarships to needy students. In other words, $7 annually from each student's fees will be put into this fund.

Officials pointed out that all students who are continuing students with a grade-point average of five or better and who have financial need will be aided.

The remainder of the increase in fees which was initially proposed by students, will go to further support the student newspaper, student government activities, intramural facilities and for debt service on bonds to be issued for expansion of the student union building.

Contrary to the Budget Committee's recommendation, the Regents made no changes in annual charges for nursing students. The Budget Committee had recommended an annual increase of $70 for residents and $140 for nonresidents.

The Regents noted the shortage of nurses and the need for graduate nurses being greater than can be met as reasons for their not changing the fees.

Yearly increases for medical students are $50 for residents and $310 for non-residents; dental students, $60 for residents and $200 for non-residents; and technicians, $30 for residents, and $80 for non-residents.

Shown below is the tuition and fee schedule for 1965-66, adopted by the University of Nebraska Board of Regents Thursday:

JULES P. COLBERT

Educator Retires

The retirement of Jules Philip Colbert, who served the University of Nebraska for 40 years, was announced Thursday at the Board of Regents meeting.

Colbert, who joined the University in 1925 as a faculty member in the department of applied mechanics, became the University's first dean of the division of student affairs in 1953 and served in that capacity until 1962.

He served as director of Veteran Affairs and as an administrator with veterans shortly after World War II when the University experienced an influx of thousands of returning GI's.

Vice Chancellor Adam Breckenridge said that Dean Colbert's long career will be remembered by hundreds of his students who were his primary interest.

"His administrative tasks during more recent years always predicated on deep concern for the welfare of the University's student body," Breckenridge said.

A second retirement announced at the Regents meeting is that of Dr. H. Armin Pagel, professor of chemistry, who has been connected with the University for 38 years.

Dr. Pagel, who came to the University in 1927 from the University of Minnesota, published more than a score of scholarly publications during his teaching and research career at the University of Nebraska.

University Board of Regents Hike Tuition, Fees, Effective This Fall

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents Thursday hiked tuition and fees effective this fall from $132 to $167 per semester for residents and from $300 to $430 for non-resident students.

On an academic year basis, the tuition increase amounts to $56 for Nebraska residents and $246 for non-residents, and the special fees for all students were increased $14. per year.

The tuition hike is essentially the same as the Legislature's recommendation of $60 per year for residents and $260 for non-residents, with no provision made specifically for special fees in the recommendation.

The Regents pointed out that they were reluctant to make the increases but that they were necessary to bring the University budget as close as possible to the $8.4 million increase which the Legislature approved for the University's biennial operations for 1965-67.

The Legislature granted the University a $3.45 million increase from the state general fund and proposed that the balance of the $8.4 million would have to come from tuition and fees, University sales and services, and from federal sources.

To attain the total, the Regents said it was necessary to gain more than $2.7 million through an increase in rates charged to students.

The Board also took action designed to help those students who will be severely affected financially by setting aside one-half of the total amount gained from the increase in special fees for scholarships to needy students. In other words, $7 annually from each student's fees will be put into this fund.

Officials pointed out that all students who are continuing students with a grade-point average of five or better and who have financial need will be aided.

The remainder of the increase in fees which was initially proposed by students, will go to further support the student newspaper, student government activities, intramural facilities and for debt service on bonds to be issued for expansion of the student union building.

Contrary to the Budget Committee's recommendation, the Regents made no changes in annual charges for nursing students. The Budget Committee had recommended an annual increase of $70 for residents and $140 for non-residents.

The Regents noted the shortage of nurses and the need for graduate nurses being greater than can be met as reasons for their not changing the fees.

Yearly increases for medical students are $50 for residents and $310 for non-residents; dental students, $60 for residents and $200 for non-residents; and technicians, $30 for residents, and $80 for non-residents.

Long before winter, the female grasshopper buries a mass of eggs wrapped in a protective gluelike coat. Warmth will not hatch the eggs unless they have first been frozen—nature's way of making sure a late warm spell won't bring out young grasshoppers to starve.

JULES P. COLBERT

Educator Retires

The retirement of Jules Philip Colbert, who served the University of Nebraska for 40 years, was announced Thursday at the Board of Regents meeting.

Colbert, who joined the University in 1925 as a faculty member in the department of applied mechanics, became the University's first dean of the division of student affairs in 1953 and served in that capacity until 1962.

He served as director of Veteran Affairs and as an administrator with veterans shortly after World War II when the University experienced an influx of thousands of returning GI's.

Vice Chancellor Adam Breckenridge said that Dean Colbert's long career will be remembered by hundreds of his students who were his primary interest.

"His administrative tasks during more recent years always predicated on deep concern for the welfare of the University's student body," Breckenridge said.

A second retirement announced at the Regents meeting is that of Dr. H. Armin Pagel, professor of chemistry, who has been connected with the University for 38 years.

Dr. Pagel, who came to the University in 1927 from the University of Minnesota, published more than a score of scholarly publications during his teaching and research career at the University of Nebraska.

NEWS of the suburban areas

Car trunks keep opening and closing as Lincoln residents continue to travel. Living out of a suit case for even a week makes the returning traveler appreciate home cooked food, spacious closets, and wrinkle free clothing.

This morning we have news of travelers, a birthday party, and a visit from a former schoolmate.

BETHANY PARK HEIGHTS

An old classmate of Mrs. Raymond Mathis came visiting Wednesday, Mrs. C. B. Cline and her two children, Ann and Paul. Mrs. Cline's mother, Mrs. Albert Thiel of Murdock, was also at Mrs. Mathis' home for lunch. Mrs. Cline and her children leave for her home in Madison, Wis. after spending more time with her mother in Murdock.

CLIFFORD PLACE

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fitzwater had a special Fourth of July celebration. Their guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Ioland Wallick Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Bechtolt and their daughter, Linda. Following a steak fry outside and homemade ice cream and cake, the families joined other Clifford Place neighbors for a fireworks display.

COUNTRY CLUB MANOR

Weekend travelers in the Country Club Manor area have been Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eikelberry. They spent the Fourth of July with their son Melvyn, and Mr. Eikelberry's father, J. A. Eikelberry in Havana, Ark.

LINCOLN HEIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Marshall and their daughters, Diane, Lura, and Linda, are spending two weeks camping—with their trailer—in Yellowstone National Park.

Eugene Steele will have a busy three weeks in Colorado where he is working with the Geological Survey concerning the recent flooding in the area.

Miss Lynn Portsche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Portsche, celebrated her 14th birthday on Monday, June 30. This Tuesday Lynn had a late birthday party at Hillcrest Country Club where her guests at a swimming part included Miss Debra Russell, Miss Bonnie Michon, Thomas Lozeto, and Mike Lozeto.

Campers in the Lincoln Heights area this week are Laurie Keech and Barbara Holbrook. They leave Sunday for a week at Camp Fontenelle near Fremont.

The Rev. and Mrs. Robert Holbrook have a house full of company. Mr. and Mrs. Morris Weaver and their children Ona, Eric, Joy, and Mark of Portland, Ore., are in Lincoln for a few days. The Rev. Holbrook's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Holbrook, of Orchard are also visitors of the Holbrooks.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Russell and their daughter, Debra, traveled to Bolivar, Mo. to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bruning and their children, Gwen, Shelly, Karl, Otto, and Greta. Other passengers in the Russell car were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Sukup of Treynor, Iowa.

Visitors at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Damrow on Sunday will be the Rev. Damrow's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Damrow of Diller. Miss Margaret Damrow will then be a house guest of the Damrows for the coming week.

Wedding Planned

Revealing plans this morning for her mid-summer wedding is Miss Donna Sue Mullin, who has chosen Saturday, July 31, as the date for her marriage to Wayne Stanley Lilla.

Miss Mullin, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald James Mullin of Sioux City, will be the guest of honor on Saturday afternoon, July 17, when Mrs. Don Nevala, Mrs. James Chatell and Mrs. Ralph Adams will entertain at the home of Mrs. Adams.

The guests have been invited to a dessert-luncheon, after which a personal shower will be presented to the honored guest.

For the wedding, which will take place at an 11 o'clock morning service to be solemnized at Blessed Sacrament Church in Sioux City, Miss Mullin has named Mrs. Patrick Nicholson of Millard as her matron of honor.

Her bridesmaids will be Miss Lynn Barry and Miss Diane Kenner, both of Sioux City, and Miss Jacqueline Jackson, Sioux City, will be the flower girl.

Tom Connors of the Lincoln Air Force Base will serve Mr. Lilla as best man, and the ushers will be Thomas Mullin of Sioux City, brother of the bride; Ronald Carroll, James Chatell and Don Nevala, all of Lincoln. Peter Francke, Jr., of Des Moines, will be ringbearer.

The bride-to-be, who is employed in Lincoln, is a former student at Morningside College in Sioux City. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lilla of Pulaski, Wis.

TALK around the town

It has been a very busy morning and all due to the fact that we indulged in some rumor chasing. We caught up with three of them and discovered that they didn't belong in the rumor category. They all were true. We're sorry to add that we can't share the excitement because we can't do any talking about them today—not even tomorrow. We promised to keep everything hush-hush until the proper moment.

The day is not lost, however because we do have some interesting news that we can talk about—and right now. There are some new names on the guest list, for instance—there are homecomers and, of course there is news of a bride-elect.

* * *

We hear that Dr. and Mrs. Harry Sanger and their son, Jeffrey, arrived from Wellesley Hills, Mass., last Tuesday to spend some time as the guests of Mrs. Sanger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William I. Aitken, and to visit her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Greer. We also learned that Dr. Sanger's visit will be a brief one since he leaves this weekend to return home. Mrs. Sanger and their young son, however, will remain in Lincoln for a longer period.

* * *

And last Tuesday also was arrival day for Mrs. Aaron Levitt and her daughter, Jean, of Kansas City. Mrs. Levitt and her daughter have been spending the current week as the guests of Mrs. Levitt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Gold. They will leave tomorrow to return to Kansas City.

* * *

Then there are guests who have come—and gone, and we have in mind Mrs. Howard Ray and her sons, John and Jim, of Loveland, Colo.

Mrs. Ray and her sons have returned to their home after a visit with Mrs. Ray's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Schilling.

During their stay here the three visitors accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Schilling on a short fishing trip to Fergus Falls, Minn.

* * *

Back in town again are Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Greer, their daughter, Helen—and son, Tag who returned a few days ago from a Holiday spent on the east coast. The foursome of travelers spent some time in Portsmouth, N.H., the guests of Mr. Greer's mother, Mrs. Raymond C.L. Greer who accompanied the family to Nantucket for a few days stay. The three weeks vacation covered considerable territory and activities — and among the latter was Mr. Greer's Yale class reunion.

* * *

Although her wedding still is some two months hence Miss Emmajean Dunham has had few leisure moments, judging from her courtesy calendar. Miss Dunham, who has a September date for her marriage to William Roper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Roper, has been honored at numerous parties, and there are more to come.

Yesterday Mrs. W. E. VanSickle complimented Miss Dunham when she entertained at a luncheon at The Knolls. Luncheon places were arranged for 20, and the bride-elect was presented with a miscellaneous shower.

* * *

Among the recent courtesies for Miss Dunham was the dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Ellery Hall Davis were host and hostess on Friday evening, June 25, when they complimented both Miss Dunham and Mr. Roper.

Also among the past affairs for the bride-elect was the party and linen shower for which Miss Diane Michael and Miss Barbara Clifford were hostesses. The guest list included Gamma Phi Beta sisters of the bride-to-be and the hostesses.

* * *

A few days ago Mrs. James Cessford and her daughter, Miss Angela Cessford, left Lincoln to return to their home in Edinburgh, Scotland. The return to Scotland, however, is not direct. The travelers are spending some time in New York City and Washington D.C., before leaving for home.

Miss Cessford arrived in Lincoln last September and attended the University of Nebraska (where she is a member of Tri-Delta) during her year's visit at the home of Dr. and Mrs. John A. Brown, III, and their daughters. Mrs. Cessford joined her daughter in Lincoln early in June.

From Boise, Idaho comes news of the arrival of Angela Theresa Hays on Saturday, July 3. The young lady is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Hays and will be of particular interest to Sigma Kappa circles since she is a legacy. Her mother is the former Jean Marie Zehrung, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Zehrung, and a Sigma Kappa at Nebraska. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hays of Omaha. Other members of the baby's immediate family includes her three sister, Allison, Alicia Ann, Andrea—and a brother, Jason.

COED is summer bride

The marriage of Miss Barbara Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Thomas of Auburn, to Clark Rikli of Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren L. Rikli of Murdock, was solemnized Saturday evening, June 26, at the Christian Church in Auburn. The 7:30 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Frank Zimmerman.

Mrs. Robert Humphrey of Plattsmouth, as the matron of honor, wore an Empire frock of pink crepe. Costumed identically in petal pink were the bridesmaids, Miss Sandra Munger, Omaha; Miss Ann Engles, Auburn; and Miss Mary Rikli, Murdock.

Serving as best man was Ross Rikli, and the corps of ushers included Lynn Petersen, Ron Wood and John Colwell, Lincoln; Ron Svoboda, Weeping Water; Tom Rogers, Denver; Neal Thomas, Auburn; Bob Humphrey, Plattsmouth; and Gary Stromberg, Polk.

The bride's gown was fashioned of whitesilk organza. Appliques of Chantilly lace trimmed the long-sleeved bodice and controlled skirt, and a wide band of the lace veiled the portrait neckline and continued over the shoulders into a panel train. A cap of jeweled petals held her bouffant illusion veil.

Mr. and Mrs. Rikli will live in Lincoln, where the bride is a student at the University of Nebraska. Mr. Rikli, a member of Theta Chi fraternity, attended Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Delegate Returns

Miss Helen Camp, RN, returned home this week from Frankfurt, Germany, where she attended the 13th quadrennial congress of the International Council of Nurses, June 16 to 24.

A member of the nursing staff at the Veterans Hospital, Miss Camp was the only representative from Lincoln, and for the trip to Germany, joined more than a thousand members of the American Nurses Association and 80 Student Nurses Association, the largest United States delegation ever to attend the congress.

ABBY better talk to daughter

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have a problem and I don't know exactly how to cope with it. It concerns our 11-year-old daughter. She's a very affectionate girl, and quite developed for her age. She is infatuated with a man who happens to be a very good friend of ours. He and his wife are at our home often. At first it was cute to see her run to him, throw her arms around his neck, and kiss him fiercely. We teased her about her "dream man," and he played along with the game. But it's no longer funny. If she's not sitting on his lap, she's very close to him. She holds his hand, and kisses him lingeringly on the lips. I notice he's very uncomfortable lately when she's around. My husband says we should ignore it as this is a stage all girls go through while growing up. I never had this problem while I was growing up. Is my husband right? Or should something be done? And, if so, how is this done without inhibiting our daughter's natural affectionate nature?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: Every normal adolescent girl has a "dream man." And there's no harm in it. But your daughter would be far better off drooling over a picture of Gregory Peck than sitting on your friend's lap. Tell your daughter that she's a young lady now and she must not be so aggressive. To ignore it would indicate approval on your part. And, furthermore, it's the responsibility of parents to see that guests in their home are not subjected to embarrassing situations.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I know what "NO SALE" means when she says she doesn't like to have salespeople "pounce" on her and ask to help her the minute she walks into a store. I don't care for it, either.

That's the reason I now shop at the discount stores. All the merchandise is out where you can see it. You can take all the time you want looking it over and nobody bothers you. And when you finally make a decision, you just put it in a basket and wheel it over to the counter where the cashier takes your money and wraps it for you. That's for me!

NO PROBLEM IN SAN MATEO

CONFIDENTIAL TO APPALLED IN APPLETON: Don't blame the children. It's practically impossible for youngsters to learn good manners when they rarely see any.

Visitors at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Damrow on Sunday will be the Rev. Damrow's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Damrow of Diller. Miss Margaret Damrow will then be a house guest of the Damrows for the coming week.

COED is summer bride

The marriage of Miss Barbara Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Thomas of Auburn, to Clark Rikli of Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren L. Rikli of Murdock, was solemnized Saturday evening, June 26, at the Christian Church in Auburn. The 7:30 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Frank Zimmerman.

Mrs. Robert Humphrey of Plattsmouth, as the matron of honor, wore an Empire frock of pink crepe. Costumed identically in petal pink were the bridesmaids, Miss Sandra Munger, Omaha; Miss Ann Engles, Auburn; and Miss Mary Rikli, Murdock.

Serving as best man was Ross Rikli, and the corps of ushers included Lynn Petersen, Ron Wood and John Colwell, Lincoln; Ron Svoboda, Weeping Water; Tom Rogers, Denver; Neal Thomas, Auburn; Bob Humphrey, Plattsmouth; and Gary Stromberg, Polk.

The bride's gown was fashioned of whitesilk organza. Appliques of Chantilly lace trimmed the long-sleeved bodice and controlled skirt, and a wide band of the lace veiled the portrait neckline and continued over the shoulders into a panel train. A cap of jeweled petals held her bouffant illusion veil.

Mr. and Mrs. Rikli will live in Lincoln, where the bride is a student at the University of Nebraska. Mr. Rikli, a member of Theta Chi fraternity, attended Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Delegate Returns

Miss Helen Camp, RN, returned home this week from Frankfurt, Germany, where she attended the 13th quadrennial congress of the International Council of Nurses, June 16 to 24.

A member of the nursing staff at the Veterans Hospital, Miss Camp was the only representative from Lincoln, and for the trip to Germany, joined more than a thousand members of the American Nurses Association and 80 Student Nurses Association, the largest United States delegation ever to attend the congress.

Lemons For Beauty

To keep your skin smooth and clear and your hair brilliant you need the natural cleansing and bleaching properties of lemon. Ask your druggist for a bottle of lemon Jelvyn, the latest lemon-type skin freshener that beautiful women are now using. Lemon Jelvyn is excellent for helping against yellowness of the hands and neck, for beautifying the complexion as it tones and melts away clogging of the surface pores and helps to maintain exquisitely fine textured skin, since it removes oily accumulations from the skin and helps wonderfully to tone and beautify the complexion. Lemon Jelvyn is excellent for a quick cleanse or to quell a greasy nose. A little lemon Jelvyn brushed on the hair after your shampoo will give it the glamour of sparkling diamonds. This is a luxury skin freshener and cleanser.

Wedding Planned

Revealing plans this morning for her mid-summer wedding is Miss Donna Sue Mullin, who has chosen Saturday, July 31, as the date for her marriage to Wayne Stanley Lilla.

Miss Mullin, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald James Mullin of Sioux City, will be the guest of honor on Saturday afternoon, July 17, when Mrs. Don Nevala, Mrs. James Chatell and Mrs. Ralph Adams will entertain at the home of Mrs. Adams.

The guests have been invited to a dessert-luncheon, after which a personal shower will be presented to the honored guest.

For the wedding, which will take place at an 11 o'clock morning service to be solemnized at Blessed Sacrament Church in Sioux City, Miss Mullin has named Mrs. Patrick Nicholson of Millard as her matron of honor.

Her bridesmaids will be Miss Lynn Barry and Miss Diane Kenner, both of Sioux City, and Miss Jacqueline Jackson, Sioux City, will be the flower girl.

Tom Connors of the Lincoln Air Force Base will serve Mr. Lilla as best man, and the ushers will be Thomas Mullin of Sioux City, brother of the bride; Ronald Carroll, James Chatell and Don Nevala, all of Lincoln. Peter Francke, Jr., of Des Moines, will be ringbearer.

The bride-to-be, who is employed in Lincoln, is a former student at Morningside College in Sioux City. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lilla of Pulaski, Wis.

TALK around the town

It has been a very busy morning and all due to the fact that we indulged in some rumor chasing. We caught up with three of them and discovered that they didn't belong in the rumor category. They all were true. We're sorry to add that we can't share the excitement because we can't do any talking about them today—not even tomorrow. We promised to keep everything hush-hush until the proper moment.

The day is not lost, however because we do have some interesting news that we can talk about—and right now. There are some new names on the guest list, for instance—there are homecomers and, of course there is news of a bride-elect.

* * *

We hear that Dr. and Mrs. Harry Sanger and their son, Jeffrey, arrived from Wellesley Hills, Mass., last Tuesday to spend some time as the guests of Mrs. Sanger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William I. Aitken, and to visit her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Greer. We also learned that Dr. Sanger's visit will be a brief one since he leaves this weekend to return home. Mrs. Sanger and their young son, however, will remain in Lincoln for a longer period.

* * *

And last Tuesday also was arrival day for Mrs. Aaron Levitt and her daughter, Jean, of Kansas City. Mrs. Levitt and her daughter have been spending the current week as the guests of Mrs. Levitt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Gold. They will leave tomorrow to return to Kansas City.

* * *

Then there are guests who have come—and gone, and we have in mind Mrs. Howard Ray and her sons, John and Jim, of Loveland, Colo.

Mrs. Ray and her sons have returned to their home after a visit with Mrs. Ray's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Schilling.

During their stay here the three visitors accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Schilling on a short fishing trip to Fergus Falls, Minn.

* * *

Back in town again are Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Greer, their daughter, Helen—and son, Tag who returned a few days ago from a Holiday spent on the east coast. The foursome of travelers spent some time in Portsmouth, N.H., the guests of Mr. Greer's mother, Mrs. Raymond C.L. Greer who accompanied the family to Nantucket for a few days stay. The three weeks vacation covered considerable territory and activities — and among the latter was Mr. Greer's Yale class reunion.

* * *

Although her wedding still is some two months hence Miss Emmajean Dunham has had few leisure moments, judging from her courtesy calendar. Miss Dunham, who has a September date for her marriage to William Roper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Roper, has been honored at numerous parties, and there are more to come.

Yesterday Mrs. W. E. VanSickle complimented Miss Dunham when she entertained at a luncheon at The Knolls. Luncheon places were arranged for 20, and the bride-elect was presented with a miscellaneous shower.

* * *

Among the recent courtesies for Miss Dunham was the dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Ellery Hall Davis were host and hostess on Friday evening, June 25, when they complimented both Miss Dunham and Mr. Roper.

Also among the past affairs for the bride-elect was the party and linen shower for which Miss Diane Michael and Miss Barbara Clifford were hostesses. The guest list included Gamma Phi Beta sisters of the bride-to-be and the hostesses.

* * *

A few days ago Mrs. James Cessford and her daughter, Miss Angela Cessford, left Lincoln to return to their home in Edinburgh, Scotland. The return to Scotland, however, is not direct. The travelers are spending some time in New York City and Washington D.C., before leaving for home.

Miss Cessford arrived in Lincoln last September and attended the University of Nebraska (where she is a member of Tri-Delta) during her year's visit at the home of Dr. and Mrs. John A. Brown, III, and their daughters. Mrs. Cessford joined her daughter in Lincoln early in June.

From Boise, Idaho comes news of the arrival of Angela Theresa Hays on Saturday, July 3. The young lady is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Hays and will be of particular interest to Sigma Kappa circles since she is a legacy. Her mother is the former Jean Marie Zehrung, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Zehrung, and a Sigma Kappa at Nebraska. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hays of Omaha. Other members of the baby's immediate family includes her three sister, Allison, Alicia Ann, Andrea—and a brother, Jason.

ABBY better talk to daughter

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have a problem and I don't know exactly how to cope with it. It concerns our 11-year-old daughter. She's a very affectionate girl, and quite developed for her age. She is infatuated with a man who happens to be a very good friend of ours. He and his wife are at our home often. At first it was cute to see her run to him, throw her arms around his neck, and kiss him fiercely. We teased her about her "dream man," and he played along with the game. But it's no longer funny. If she's not sitting on his lap, she's very close to him. She holds his hand, and kisses him lingeringly on the lips. I notice he's very uncomfortable lately when she's around. My husband says we should ignore it as this is a stage all girls go through while growing up. I never had this problem while I was growing up. Is my husband right? Or should something be done? And, if so, how is this done without inhibiting our daughter's natural affectionate nature?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: Every normal adolescent girl has a "dream man." And there's no harm in it. But your daughter would be far better off drooling over a picture of Gregory Peck than sitting on your friend's lap. Tell your daughter that she's a young lady now and she must not be so aggressive. To ignore it would indicate approval on your part. And, furthermore, it's the responsibility of parents to see that guests in their home are not subjected to embarrassing situations.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I know what "NO SALE" means when she says she doesn't like to have salespeople "pounce" on her and ask to help her the minute she walks into a store. I don't care for it, either.

That's the reason I now shop at the discount stores. All the merchandise is out where you can see it. You can take all the time you want looking it over and nobody bothers you. And when you finally make a decision, you just put it in a basket and wheel it over to the counter where the cashier takes your money and wraps it for you. That's for me!

☆ ☆ ☆

CONFIDENTIAL TO APPALLED IN APPLETON: Don't blame the children. It's practically impossible for youngsters to learn good manners when they rarely see any.

morning ceremony

At a 10:30 o'clock morning service on Saturday, June 19, Miss Anita Verkamp of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Verkamp of Lawrence, became the bride of Ronald Pellan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Pellan of Mead. The ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Peter Naughton at Sacred Heart Church in Lawrence.

Wearing Empire frocks of crepe in pastel tones were Mrs. Larry Zastrow, who was her sister's matron of honor; the bridesmatron, Mrs. Gary Mahrt, sister of the bridegroom; and the bridesmaids, Miss Joanne Pellan, also a sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Sharon Passieux. They carried cascades of pink gladioli.

Larry Zastrow served as best man, and seating the guests were Gary Mahrt, James Verkamp and Raynold Verkamp, brothers of the bride; Larry Bigley and George Sawtelle.

The bride appeared in a gown of white silk organza and Chantilly lace. The long-sleeved bodice of lace was designed with a scalloped sabrina neckline, and the full organza skirt was bordered with tiers of lace which continued into a chapel train. A cluster of jeweled petals held to the head her bouffant illusion veil, and she carried pink roses centered with a white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Pellan, both of whom are employed in Lincoln, will make their home in Wahoo.

TEST YOUR PLAY

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Four Spades. North cashes the A-K-Q of clubs, South following suit, and shifts to the ten of diamonds. You cover with the queen and win the king with the ace. How would you now play the hand?

♠QJ1042	N	♠AK8
♥K3	W E	♥AQ1064
♦A76	S	♦Q3
♣J92		♣754

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Three Notrump. North leads the queen of spades, which you duck, and continues with the jack, which you win, South following suit. You lead the king of hearts, South taking the ace and returning a heart to your queen. How would you now play the hand?

♠AK74	N	♠652
♥KQJ	W E	♥1074
♦K93	S	♦A65
♣AKJ		♣9432

1. If you were to draw trumps now, the outcome would depend entirely upon winning four heart tricks instead of the three of which you are certain. The probability of finding the hearts favorably divided — that is, either 3-3 or the singleton or doubleton jack in either opponent's hand—is only slightly better than even money.

This chance can be greatly improved upon by first cashing the A-Q of spades and then, if both opponents have followed suit in trumps, cashing the K-A of hearts, followed by the ruff of a low heart with a high trump. Now a spade to the king would permit the two diamond losers to be discarded on the Q-10 of hearts if the hearts proved to be divided either 3-3 or 4-2.

If it turned out that the trumps were divided 4-1, you would have to draw the remaining trumps at once and then rely on a favorable heart division.

2. You start with eight tricks and need a ninth. The problem is whether to enter dummy with a diamond and take a club finesse, or whether to play the A-K-J of clubs from your own hand in the hope of either catching the queen or finding the suit divided 3-3.

The finesse offers about a 50% chance of success, while cashing the A-K-J of clubs offers about a 2 to 1 chance of success. Obviously, the better play in the long run is to lead the clubs from your own hand rather than rely on the finesse. While it is true that the right method of play might fail in a particular hand and the wrong method might succeed, it is nevertheless better to rely on the percentage play.

WHY Grow Old?

Josephine Lowman

Q. What makes dull hair shine besides a rinse? Are there any remedies for this problem?

A. Good health, fine nutrition and scalp massage all have their influence. However a lemon or vinegar rinse will add some highlights because they remove every bit of any remaining soap.

Q. I am 5 feet 9 and weigh 134 pounds. My measurements are, bust 36½ inches, waist 26½ inches and hips 36 inches. When I sit down I feel as though my midriff laps over my waistline. What is my ideal weight? I have had three children and weigh three pounds more than I did before.

A. Congratulations! You are just the right weight if you have a very small frame Otherwise you would be underweight. Your measurements are in perfect ratio. Maybe you have a slight accumulation of fat on the diaphragm or maybe the problem is posture. When you sit, do you slump forward, with your bust practically resting on your ribs? When sitting or standing, make the distance as great as possible between your waistline and your bust. See illustration.

Straw-like Hair

Q. It is only mid-summer and my hair is already getting like straw. What can I do to keep it from getting worse and improve the way it is now?

A. Give yourself a hot oil treatment once a week. Driving in the sun and wind, swimming in salt water and that which has been chlorinated make the hair like yours is. Part your hair all over your head, one part at a time and rub warm olive oil or baby oil along the part. Baby oil has the advantage that it is lighter. Then wrap a hot wet towel around your head When it cools heat it and wrap it about your head again.

Also wear hats and scarfs whenever you can. Use one of the products planned especially for dry ends.

Bust Worries

Q. I am 12 years old and I have a very small bust. Should I take bust improvement exercises or wait a while longer? It embarrasses me because all the other girls in my grade are larger than I am.

A. Wait quite a while longer. Many girls your age have no bust at all. Girls develop at different ages so don't let it worry you. Give nature time.

Reel Quick, Load And Leave Win In Inaugural Handicap

Reel Quick, and Load and Leave won the first and second divisions respectively of the Inaugural Handicap at the Nebraska State Fairgrounds track Thursday on the opening day of horse racing in Lincoln.

In the first division, the seventh race with a purse of $1500, Reel Quick, a 21-1 shot, trailed in the backstretch, but slipped through next to the rail in the stretch and finished strongly, winning 1¼ lengths ahead of second-place Annie Ghan.

Annie Ghan was forced to circle the field on the final turn, but closed very quickly at the wire to nip Go Lively by a nose. Go Lively had led the pack most of the way but lost ground on the outside in the final turn.

Reel Quick paid $46.80, $18 and $8; Annie Ghan returned $8.60 and $6.20 to place and Go Lively $5.40 to show.

In the second division, the eighth race also with a purse of $1500, Load and Leave, the 8-5 choice of the fans, broke into the lead at the starting gate, was challenged by Bill's Bid in the backstretch, but increased its lead in the final turn to win by 6 lengths.

Bill's Bid, never too far back in the pack, could not catch Load and Leave, but finished an easy 2½ lengths ahead of show horse This Moment.

Ridden by Fred Ecoffey, who jockeyed two winners and a show horse, Load and Leave returned $5.40, $3.60 and $3.20, Bill's Bid paid $24.80 and $15.20 and This Moment returned $11.60.

The sixth race with a $3,200 claiming price was won by Go Lightning who was far back in the early running but closed fast in the stretch to beat Seven Strikes and Rita Open in a photo finish.

Seven Strikes was declared second and paid $4.00 and $3.20. Rita open was third, paying $3.80. The winner returned $10.40, $4.80 and $3.60.

Pegged Man (no. 5) and Open Cross (no. 8), winners of the first and second race respectively, combined to pay a daily double of $56.40.

Thursday's attendance was 4,346, 375 above last year's opening day count of 3,971. The mutuel handle totalled $203,394, up $34,126 from last year.

2 Share British Open Lead

. . . DEVLIN CATCHES LEMA, WITH 'BIG 3' CLOSE BEHIND

Southport, England (AP)—Defending champion Tony Lema fashioned a one under par 72 Thursday and shared the halfway lead in the British Open Golf Championship with Australian Bruce Devlin. But there was a cluster of other players breathing down the necks of both men.

Among the pursuers were the formidable Big Three—Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player, all of whom shot second round 71s to remain in contention.

The charging Palmer, from Latrobe, Pa., was tied with a rugged little Welshman, Brian Huggett, one stroke back of the leaders at 141. Nicklaus, the overwhelming 3-1 favorite, was at 144 and Player, rallying despite an aching neck, was at 147.

Lema, the flamboyant Champagne Kid from San Leandro, Calif., played superbly but missed numerous short birdie putts to go four strokes over his record 68 of the opening day.

So Devlin, the sinewy Australian who has won $53,000 on the American tour without a tournament victory, fired a 69 and pulled level at the head of the reduced pack which goes into the final two rounds Friday.

Of the United States' original nine-man contingent, only four—Lema, Palmer, Nicklaus and the 26-year-old Terry Dill of Muleshoe, Tex., qualified for the climactic showdown.

Dill, a lanky drink of water, shot a one-under-par 72, one putting the first seven greens, for 147.

Casualties included the 53-year-old sentimental favorite, Sam Snead; Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif.; Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., and the two amateurs, Mike Hadlock, an air force man from Houston, Tex., and Bruce Richards of Seattle.

With the cutoff point at 149 for the 45 and ties qualifying for the last two rounds, Snead, winner of the title at St. Andrews in 1946, faded to a 76 for a 150 total. He missed by a stroke.

Rodgers missed six putts of under six feet for his second straight 75 and another 150 total while the snake-bit Sanders, three-putting five greens and taking a triple bogey at the ninth hole, floundered to a second successive 78 for 156.

Hadlock took a seven on one hole and finished with a 75 for 152. Richards skied to an 82 for 161 — completely out of sight.

Five players were on the 142 mark. They were Eric Brown of Scotland with 72-70; Peter Thomson, four-time winner from Australia with 74-68; Christy O'Connor, Ireland's Ryder Cup star, with 69-73; Hugh Boyle of England with 73-69; and Joe Carr, Walker Cup captain from Ireland with 70-72.

Roberto de Vicenzo, 42-year-old Argentine who has finished third three times in the championship, moved into a spot three shots behind the pacesetters with 74-69—143.

Bob Charles, the left-hander who won the title in a playoff against Phil Rodgers in 1963, also failed to qualify. He wound up with 78-73—151. Peter Butler, British Ryder Cup player, failed to make it with 77-77—154.

Lema survived a testing time at the 10th hole to stay on top. He hooked a short iron second into a bush and then found himself without a good stance and no back swing because of obstruction from scaffolding on a spectators' stand.

The Californian called for a ruling on whether he could have a free drop. Charles Lawrie, the deputy chairman of the championship committee, ruled that that was okay.

After the drop the ball rolled yet again near the scaffolding. Lema was told he could have another free drop but he decided to play the ball though his swing still was slightly impeded.

Finally he took a one over par on the hole. Lema went out in par 35 and came back in one over par 37.

Lema pulled his game together with birdies on the 13th, 15th and 17th holes and afterwards remarked: "It was a hard working day. I wasn't driving too well and those finishing holes were playing longer than yesterday."

Palmer, collecting a large chunk of the crowd of 10,000 on a sunny day with only a little wind, came to the home green needing to sink an eight-foot putt to join the leaders.

His putt rimmed the cup and he settled for a five and joint second place. A sign that Palmer still is the man to watch was the way his putter worked on several holes.

He banged in one from 25 feet at the 393-yard fourth hole, and then carded an eagle three at the long 17th with a 45-footer.

"Often I pulled my game together but I couldn't hang on to it," he said afterwards. "But my putting is better — if nothing else."

Nicklaus birdied the fourth, ninth, 15th, 17th and 18th holes, but had real trouble with his putter.

He three-putted the first, second and eighth holes and said they were costly. His 71 would have been a lot better, he said, if he had managed the 12th and 13th holes.

At the short 12th he slipped with a bogey four and at the long 13th, Nicklaus said, "I tested the wind and decided it had shifted so I played to the right. I was wrong and instead of looking for a birdie four I wound up with a five.

"Those two holes hurt a lot," he said.

His birdies came on a 23-foot putt at the fourth. A 20-footer at the tenth, a 15-footer at the 15th, an 11-footer at the 17th and two putts on the home hole which he reached in two.

Player strained a neck muscle while exercising before travelling to the golf course. He had three aspirins and then took seven pain-killing tablets on the fourth green to help him around the course.

"That's about the best I ever played," he said. "My swing was restricted because of the neck trouble. At times I felt I had no backswing.

"But I was a miracle man around the greens. I had to be. Otherwise I would have had no score."

PRISCILLA'S ON A SPREE

The races started again at the fairgrounds and as you probably noticed the sun started to shine a little hotter.

Priscilla

I sometimes have the feeling that if the races didn't come to the Capitol City summer wouldn't either.

It sure would be nice if Uncle Charlie was here, bless his soul, to help me pick some sun-loving horses.

Since he isn't I'll just wager $2 to win on Ala Connie in the fourth race and $2 to win on Gin Broker in the sixth.

Thursday Aunt Priscilla lost $2 on Space Bound in the seventh but her $2 win ticket on Load and Leave, winner of the eighth race, returned her $5.40 giving her a $1.40 profit for the day. Her spree fund is now $93.40. She started with $92, $4 for each of the 23 days of racing.

. . . DEVLIN CATCHES LEMA, WITH 'BIG 3' CLOSE BEHIND

Southport, England (AP)—Defending champion Tony Lema fashioned a one under par 72 Thursday and shared the halfway lead in the British Open Golf Championship with Australian Bruce Devlin. But there was a cluster of other players breathing down the necks of both men.

Among the pursuers were the formidable Big Three—Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player, all of whom shot second round 71s to remain in contention.

The charging Palmer, from Latrobe, Pa., was tied with a rugged little Welshman, Brian Huggett, one stroke back of the leaders at 141. Nicklaus, the overwhelming 3-1 favorite, was at 144 and Player, rallying despite an aching neck, was at 147.

Lema, the flamboyant Champagne Kid from San Leandro, Calif., played superbly but missed numerous short birdie putts to go four strokes over his record 68 of the opening day.

So Devlin, the sinewy Australian who has won $53,000 on the American tour without a tournament victory, fired a 69 and pulled level at the head of the reduced pack which goes into the final two rounds Friday.

Of the United States' original nine-man contingent, only four—Lema, Palmer, Nicklaus and the 26-year-old Terry Dill of Muleshoe, Tex., qualified for the climactic showdown.

Dill, a lanky drink of water, shot a one-under-par 72, one putting the first seven greens, for 147.

Casualties included the 53-year-old sentimental favorite, Sam Snead; Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif.; Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., and the two amateurs, Mike Hadlock, an air force man from Houston, Tex., and Bruce Richards of Seattle.

With the cutoff point at 149 for the 45 and ties qualifying for the last two rounds, Snead, winner of the title at St. Andrews in 1946, faded to a 76 for a 150 total. He missed by a stroke.

Rodgers missed six putts of under six feet for his second straight 75 and another 150 total while the snake-bit Sanders, three-putting five greens and taking a triple bogey at the ninth hole, floundered to a second successive 78 for 156.

Hadlock took a seven on one hole and finished with a 75 for 152. Richards skied to an 82 for 161 — completely out of sight.

Five players were on the 142 mark. They were Eric Brown of Scotland with 72-70; Peter Thomson, four-time winner from Australia with 74-68; Christy O'Connor, Ireland's Ryder Cup star, with 69-73; Hugh Boyle of England with 73-69; and Joe Carr, Walker Cup captain from Ireland with 70-72.

Roberto de Vicenzo, 42-year-old Argentine who has finished third three times in the championship, moved into a spot three shots behind the pacesetters with 74-69—143.

Bob Charles, the left-hander who won the title in a playoff against Phil Rodgers in 1963, also failed to qualify. He wound up with 78-73—151. Peter Butler, British Ryder Cup player, failed to make it with 77-77—154.

Lema survived a testing time at the 10th hole to stay on top. He hooked a short iron second into a bush and then found himself without a good stance and no back swing because of obstruction from scaffolding on a spectators' stand.

The Californian called for a ruling on whether he could have a free drop. Charles Lawrie, the deputy chairman of the championship committee, ruled that that was okay.

After the drop the ball rolled yet again near the scaffolding. Lema was told he could have another free drop but he decided to play the ball though his swing still was slightly impeded.

Finally he took a one over par on the hole. Lema went out in par 35 and came back in one over par 37.

Lema pulled his game together with birdies on the 13th, 15th and 17th holes and afterwards remarked: "It was a hard working day. I wasn't driving too well and those finishing holes were playing longer than yesterday."

Palmer, collecting a large chunk of the crowd of 10,000 on a sunny day with only a little wind, came to the home green needing to sink an eight-foot putt to join the leaders.

His putt rimmed the cup and he settled for a five and joint second place. A sign that Palmer still is the man to watch was the way his putter worked on several holes.

He banged in one from 25 feet at the 393-yard fourth hole, and then carded an eagle three at the long 17th with a 45-footer.

"Often I pulled my game together but I couldn't hang on to it," he said afterwards. "But my putting is better — if nothing else."

Nicklaus birdied the fourth, ninth, 15th, 17th and 18th holes, but had real trouble with his putter.

He three-putted the first, second and eighth holes and said they were costly. His 71 would have been a lot better, he said, if he had managed the 12th and 13th holes.

At the short 12th he slipped with a bogey four and at the long 13th, Nicklaus said, "I tested the wind and decided it had shifted so I played to the right. I was wrong and instead of looking for a birdie four I wound up with a five.

"Those two holes hurt a lot," he said.

His birdies came on a 23-foot putt at the fourth. A 20-footer at the tenth, a 15-footer at the 15th, an 11-footer at the 17th and two putts on the home hole which he reached in two.

Player strained a neck muscle while exercising before travelling to the golf course. He had three aspirins and then took seven pain-killing tablets on the fourth green to help him around the course.

"That's about the best I ever played," he said. "My swing was restricted because of the neck trouble. At times I felt I had no backswing.

"But I was a miracle man around the greens. I had to be. Otherwise I would have had no score."

Reel Quick, and Load and Leave won the first and second divisions respectively of the Inaugural Handicap at the Nebraska State Fairgrounds track Thursday on the opening day of horse racing in Lincoln.

In the first division, the seventh race with a purse of $1500, Reel Quick, a 21-1 shot, trailed in the backstretch, but slipped through next to the rail in the stretch and finished strongly, winning 1¼ lengths ahead of second-place Annie Ghan.

Annie Ghan was forced to circle the field on the final turn, but closed very quickly at the wire to nip Go Lively by a nose. Go Lively had led the pack most of the way but lost ground on the outside in the final turn.

Reel Quick paid $46.80, $18 and $8; Annie Ghan returned $8.60 and $6.20 to place and Go Lively $5.40 to show.

In the second division, the eighth race also with a purse of $1500, Load and Leave, the 8-5 choice of the fans, broke into the lead at the starting gate, was challenged by Bill's Bid in the backstretch, but increased its lead in the final turn to win by 6 lengths.

Bill's Bid, never too far back in the pack, could not catch Load and Leave, but finished an easy 2½ lengths ahead of show horse This Moment.

Ridden by Fred Ecoffey, who jockeyed two winners and a show horse, Load and Leave returned $5.40, $3.60 and $3.20, Bill's Bid paid $24.80 and $15.20 and This Moment returned $11.60.

The sixth race with a $3,200 claiming price was won by Go Lightning who was far back in the early running but closed fast in the stretch to beat Seven Strikes and Rita Open in a photo finish.

Seven Strikes was declared second and paid $4.00 and $3.20. Rita open was third, paying $3.80. The winner returned $10.40, $4.80 and $3.60.

Pegged Man (no. 5) and Open Cross (no. 8), winners of the first and second race respectively, combined to pay a daily double of $56.40.

Thursday's attendance was 4,346, 375 above last year's opening day count of 3,971. The mutuel handle totalled $203,394, up $34,126 from last year.

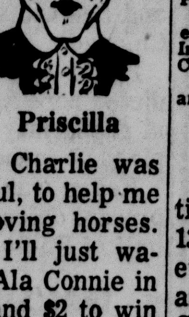
PRISCILLA'S ON A SPREE

The races started again at the fairgrounds and as you probably noticed the sun started to shine a little hotter.



Priscilla

I sometimes have the feeling that if the races didn't come to the Capitol City summer wouldn't either.

It sure would be nice if Uncle Charlie was here, bless his soul, to help me pick some sun-loving horses.

Since he isn't I'll just wager $2 to win on Ala Connie in the fourth race and $2 to win on Gin Broker in the sixth.

Thursday Aunt Priscilla lost $2 on Space Bound in the seventh but her $2 win ticket on Load and Leave, winner of the eighth race, returned her $5.40 giving her a $1.40 profit for the day. Her spree fund is now $93.40. She started with $92, $4 for each of the 23 days of racing.

Boxing Probe Interest 'Odd'

. . . OLD CHAMPS THERE

Washington (AP)—The final bell rang on the House boxing hearings Thursday without Cassius Clay, Sonny Liston or any of the reigning champions climbing into the ring to defend the sport.

"That seems rather odd to me," said Rep. Leo W. O'Brien, D-N.Y., member of the Interstate Commerce Committee holding the hearings.

Chairman Oren Harris, D-Ark., said "A general invitation has been extended" but none of the current fighters accepted. It is against committee policy to use subpoenas to force witnesses to testify on legislation.

The only big-name boxers to appear were those from the past—Dempsey and Rocky Marciano with Gene Tunney sending in a statement.

They, as did the witnesses from the business side of the ring, urged the committee to turn out legislation to establish a Federal Boxing Commission to save the sport from being counted out by the public.

Unlike most industries facing government regulations, the boxing business has not only begged the committee to let Uncle Sam step in, but has urged he be given more authority than the committee proposed.

Arch Hindman, executive secretary of the World Boxing Association, found the situation so serious he recommended a moratorium on boxing until a federal commission could be established.

His voluntary association, Hindman told the lawmakers, doesn't have the power to force its decisions on its membership of local and state boxing commissions, and he warned:

"If federal legislation is not passed and signed into law—along the lines introduced — our country may well be faced with scandals more staggering than publicized evils of the past."

A blonde, Los Angeles promoter, Mrs. Eileen Eaton, said, "Believe me, without a federal commission, there won't be any boxing."

A federal commission with authority to force champions to defend their titles at least every six months would encourage challengers and put boxing back on its feet, Mrs. Eaton added.

Sol Silverman, chairman of the California Committee for Boxing Safeguards, said the paramount interest of too many boxing promotions "is to make money in any way that it can get by with."

Harris and some other committee members have introduced a bill that would establish a commission to exercise surveillance over professional boxing.

Its main power would be to prohibit an account of a fight being transmitted—while the fight is occurring—by television, radio or wire services in interstate commerce if the commission determines it is likely the bout "will be in any way affected by bribery, collusion to affect the result, intentional losing, racketeering, including terrorism, extortion, organized use of threats, coercion, intimidation, or use of violence."

With the hearings over, the committee now is considering witnesses' suggestions to strengthen the bill by giving the commission authority to license boxers, managers, promoters, the closed circuit television companies—even the seconds.

Atlanta Must Repel Crime In Sports

Atlanta (AP) — A criminal prosecutor called Thursday for creation of a state vice squad to combat organized crime he says is sure to follow big league sports into Atlanta.

"We might as well realize that Atlanta is no longer a big country town," said William Spence, solicitor general of the Fulton County Criminal Court.

"We are beginning to be a big city, and we are going to have big city problems, and one of the biggest problems that any big city has is a crime syndicate."

Spence said some gambling interests already have begun moving into Atlanta in preparation for games next year of the baseball Braves and a National Football League club.

"We have confidential information that they are moving into Atlanta and getting in legitimate businesses that will be used for fronts later," he said.

"At least one of them has already put up a teletype machine which could not be for any other purpose than communication with other big league cities with reference to professional football and professional baseball."

Spence said that Atlanta police would be hampered in fighting big-time crime because they have no jurisdiction in adjoining metropolitan counties.

"We cannot legally cross county lines," he said.

Polito Pleads Innocent To Fix Charges

Seattle (AP)—Joseph F. Polito of Chicago pleaded innocent Tuesday to charges he conspired to fix the outcome of the Jan. 22 basketball game between Seattle University and the University of Idaho.

Polito, 32, was represented in United States District Court by Jack Regan, court-appointed attorney.

Regan told Judge William J. Lindberg he probably would seek separate trials for Polito and Leo Casale, 24, also of Chicago.

Polito and Casale were indicted here April 7 by a federal grand jury. Casale also has pleaded innocent.

Regan was given 10 days to present defense motions on behalf of Polito.

Injuries Keep Bosox Ace, Mick Out Of Classic

Boston (AP)—New York Yankees outfielder Mickey Mantle and left fielder Carl Yastrzemski of the Boston Red Sox will not see action in major league baseball's All Star game next week, American League President Joe Cronin said Wednesday.

Cronin said both men have pulled muscles and their clubs advised him the players would not be able to play in the game at Minnesota July 13.

Cronin said he asked National League President Warren Giles for permission to replace the men and Giles agreed. American League Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox selected catcher Bill Freehan of the Detroit Tigers and outfielder Tony Oliva of the Minnesota Twins as replacements.

Both men played on last year's All-Star team and finished third in the balloting this year.

Rails and gallinules—within the outside dates of Sept. 1 through Jan. 15, each state in the Atlantic, Mississippi and Central flyways may select a season of 70 consecutive days, daily bag and possession limits 15 and 30, hours from sunrise until sunset.

Because of a lack of hunter interest, no season on rails is prescribed in the Pacific flyway.

Common snipe—Within the outside dates of Sept. 1 through Jan. 15, states in the Atlantic, Mississippi and Central flyways may select a season of 50 consecutive days, daily bag limit of 8 and possession limit of 16, shooting hours from sunrise until sunset.

Ball Team To Stay In Jail At Wichita

. . . DURING TOURNAMENT

Wichita, Kan. (AP) — One of the teams playing in the Kansas championship baseball tournament here this weekend will spend Saturday night in jail.

In fact, you could say they'll have police protection wherever they go.

The Kansas State penitentiary baseball team is entered in the annual tourney. It's the first time the prison nine has ever played a road game.

The KSP Red Sox will come to Wichita early Saturday, play later in the day and spend the night in jail. They will return to Lansing, 25 miles northwest of Kansas City, on Sunday.

The Red Sox are led by hard-throwing Isaiah Fireball Jackson, whose pro career was cut short last year when he quit stealing signs and expanded his field.

Jackson won a parole after leading the prison team to a 20-0 season two years ago. He signed a contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates and last year pitched for Reno, Nev., in the California League.

But Jackson left the club before the end of the season and was caught in Kansas City and sent back to prison, convicted of robbing two Kansas City cab drivers.

A prison official was in Wichita Tuesday, making arrangements for the overnight accommodations and a security guard for the club. While here for the tourney, the Red Sox will be escorted by the Wichita and Sedgwick County police officers.

Boxing Probe Interest 'Odd'

. . . OLD CHAMPS THERE

Washington (AP)—The final bell rang on the House boxing hearings Thursday without Cassius Clay, Sonny Liston or any of the reigning champions climbing into the ring to defend the sport.

"That seems rather odd to me," said Rep. Leo W. O'Brien, D-N.Y., member of the Interstate Commerce Committee holding the hearings.

Chairman Oren Harris, D-Ark., said "A general invitation has been extended" but none of the current fighters accepted. It is against committee policy to use subpoenas to force witnesses to testify on legislation.

The only big-name boxers to appear were those from the past—Dempsey and Rocky Marciano with Gene Tunney sending in a statement.

They, as did the witnesses from the business side of the ring, urged the committee to turn out legislation to establish a Federal Boxing Commission to save the sport from being counted out by the public.

Unlike most industries facing government regulations, the boxing business has not only begged the committee to let Uncle Sam step in, but has urged he be given more authority than the committee proposed.

Arch Hindman, executive secretary of the World Boxing Association, found the situation so serious he recommended a moratorium on boxing until a federal commission could be established.

His voluntary association, Hindman told the lawmakers, doesn't have the power to force its decisions on its membership of local and state boxing commissions, and he warned:

"If federal legislation is not passed and signed into law—along the lines introduced—our country may well be faced with scandals more staggering than publicized evils of the past."

A blonde, Los Angeles promoter, Mrs. Eileen Eaton, said, "Believe me, without a federal commission, there won't be any boxing."

A federal commission with authority to force champions to defend their titles at least every six months would encourage challengers and put boxing back on its feet, Mrs. Eaton added.

Sol Silverman, chairman of the California Committee for Boxing Safeguards, said the paramount interest of too many boxing promotions "is to make money in any way that it can get by with."

Harris and some other committee members have introduced a bill that would establish a commission to exercise surveillance over professional boxing.

Its main power would be to prohibit an account of a fight being transmitted—while the fight is occurring—by television, radio or wire services in interstate commerce if the commission determines it is likely the bout "will be in any way affected by bribery, collusion to affect the result, intentional losing, racketeering, including terrorism, extortion, organized use of threats, coercion, intimidation, or use of violence."

With the hearings over, the committee now is considering witnesses' suggestions to strengthen the bill by giving the commission authority to license boxers, managers, promoters, the closed circuit television companies—even the seconds.

Atlanta Must Repel Crime In Sports

Atlanta (AP) — A criminal prosecutor called Thursday for creation of a state vice squad to combat organized crime he says is sure to follow big league sports into Atlanta.

"We might as well realize that Atlanta is no longer a big country town," said William Spence, solicitor general of the Fulton County Criminal Court.

"We are beginning to be a big city, and we are going to have big city problems, and one of the biggest problems that any big city has is a crime syndicate."

Spence said some gambling interests already have begun moving into Atlanta in preparation for games next year of the baseball Braves and a National Football League club.

"We have confidential information that they are moving into Atlanta and getting in legitimate businesses that will be used for fronts later," he said.

"At least one of them has already put up a teletype machine which could not be for any other purpose than communication with other big league cities with reference to professional football and professional baseball."

Spence said that Atlanta police would be hampered in fighting big-time crime because they have no jurisdiction in adjoining metropolitan counties.

"We cannot legally cross county lines," he said.

Polito Pleads Innocent To Fix Charges

Seattle (AP)—Joseph F. Polito of Chicago pleaded innocent Tuesday to charges he conspired to fix the outcome of the Jan. 22 basketball game between Seattle University and the University of Idaho.

Polito, 32, was represented in United States District Court by Jack Regan, court-appointed attorney.

Regan told Judge William J. Lindberg he probably would seek separate trials for Polito and Leo Casale, 24, also of Chicago.

Polito and Casale were indicted here April 7 by a federal grand jury. Casale also has pleaded innocent.

Regan was given 10 days to present defense motions on behalf of Polito.

Injuries Keep Bosox Ace, Mick Out Of Classic

Boston (AP)—New York Yankees outfielder Mickey Mantle and left fielder Carl Yastrzemski of the Boston Red Sox will not see action in major league baseball's All Star game next week, American League President Joe Cronin said Wednesday.

Cronin said both men have pulled muscles and their clubs advised him the players would not be able to play in the game at Minnesota July 13.

Cronin said he asked National League President Warren Giles for permission to replace the men and Giles agreed. American League Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox selected catcher Bill Freehan of the Detroit Tigers and outfielder Tony Oliva of the Minnesota Twins as replacements.

Both men played on last year's All-Star team and finished third in the balloting this year.

Ball Team To Stay In Jail At Wichita

. . . DURING TOURNAMENT

Wichita, Kan. (AP) — One of the teams playing in the Kansas championship baseball tournament here this weekend will spend Saturday night in jail.

In fact, you could say they'll have police protection wherever they go.

The Kansas State penitentiary baseball team is entered in the annual tourney. It's the first time the prison nine has ever played a road game.

The KSP Red Sox will come to Wichita early Saturday, play later in the day and spend the night in jail. They will return to Lansing, 25 miles northwest of Kansas City, on Sunday.

The Red Sox are led by hard-throwing Isaiah Fireball Jackson, whose pro career was cut short last year when he quit stealing signs and expanded his field.

Jackson won a parole after leading the prison team to a 20-0 season two years ago. He signed a contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates and last year pitched for Reno, Nev., in the California League.

But Jackson left the club before the end of the season and was caught in Kansas City and sent back to prison, convicted of robbing two Kansas City cab drivers.

A prison official was in Wichita Tuesday, making arrangements for the overnight accommodations and a security guard for the club. While here for the tourney, the Red Sox will be escorted by the Wichita and Sedgwick County police officers.

Stunt Flyer Paul Mantz Killed In Movie Scene

PAUL MANTZ

Yuma, Ariz. (AP) — Paul Mantz, who skirted death for 35 years as the ace of Hollywood's stunt flyers, was killed Thursday when a makeshift movie aircraft crashed while cameras rolled.

Mantz, 61, was a close friend and onetime copilot with aviatrix Amelia Earhart, who vanished mysteriously over the Pacific on a round-the-world flight in 1937.

He was flying a plane of his own creation for the film, "Flight of the Phoenix," when the plane's propeller and landing gear struck a hummock, shearing the motor mountings. The craft cartwheeled over and over before tearing to pieces. Mantz was thrown 350 feet. The engine was hurled 7° feet.

Bobby Rose, 64 another longtime movie stunt man, also was thrown out Rose, copilot and navigator, suffered head and back injuries and was in fair condition at Parkview Baptist Hospital in Yuma.

In Buttercup Valley

The crash occurred in California's Buttercup Valley, 17 miles west of Yuma. Mantz was doing final scenes for the 20th Century-Fox film, based on an actual crash in the Libyan Desert in World War II. In real life, the plane's mechanic rebuilt a wrecked twin-engine airplane into a one-engine craft and flew it to an Allied base with six airmen strapped to a wing.

In the film scene in which Mantz died, the makeshift plane was making a pass over two desert graves before leaving the desert.

The craft was carefully made up to look like a rattletrap, but it had passed an engineering checkout by the Federal Aviation Agency, according to John Bagley, a a mechanic-pilot for Tallmantz Air Service.

Mantz had reported trouble with the plane earlier in the week, saying that the engine overheated, the plane's handling was difficult and it was "a little nose-heavy."

Mantz was doubling for actor James Stewart, who, with costars Richard Attenborough, Peter Finch and Ernest Borgnine, had completed location shots at Yuma and were back in Hollywood at the time of the crash.

Mantz' last film was "The Greatest Story Ever Told," in which he went aloft ·ith cameras to film the Ascension.

His long career was legend. He began film stunts in the early days of the talkies with "Hell's Angels" and "Air Mail." His other credits included "The Spirit of St. Louis" (in which he also doubled for James Stewart, who portrayed Charles Lindbergh) and television's "12 O'Clock High," in which he recently crashed a four-engine bomber.

Judge Continues Pope Arraignment

U S. Judge Robert Van Pelt Thursday continued the court arraignment of accused tripleslayer-bank robber Duane Pope to an indefinite date.

The action granted a motion filed earlier in the day by Pope's attorneys, former governor Robert B. Crosby and University of Nebraska law professor Wallace Rudolph.

Pope was scheduled to be arraigned on six federal indictments at 9 a m. Thursday, three of which could bring the death penalty.

Judge Van Pelt's order said that the arraignment shall be continued to a time to be fixed by agreement of the opposing attorneys or by an order of the court.

Crosby and Rudolph asked for the delay so they could better determine what plea to enter for the young Kansan charged in connection with the June 4 robbery of the Farmers State Bank in Big Springs.

They noted that Van Pelt appointed them to handle the defense only 2 weeks ago, on June 25.

The defense attorneys said in their motion that "more time is required to enable Defendent's counsel to advise him properly regarding the arraignment."

Crosby said he would seek court approval later for psychiatric examination of Pope, 22, of rural Roxbury, Kans.

France Sets Market Talks With Belgium, Netherlands

Paris (UPI — France has agreed to meet with representatives from Belgium and the Netherlands to talk over the European Common Market crisis, it was announced Thursday.

An official announcement said Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville has agreed to meet separately with Dutch Foreign Minister Joseph M. Luns and Belgium's Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak.

At the sane time, France broke its boycott Thursday of Common Market negotiations by sending two delegates to a meeting of the community farm management committee which fixes the bloc's agricultural levies and food prices on a day-to-day basis.

French attendance at the meeting, however, was not seen as a reversal of her boycott policy which blocks any progress but does not prevent commitments already made from being carried out.

De Murville said he would meet with Luns Monday and with Spaak on Tuesday.

The French minister's acceptance of the Dutch and Belgian bid for talks raised hopes that France may be willing to make some concessions to break the Common Market deadlock which began last Thursday when France walked out of a meeting in Brussels.

In Brussels, Nigeria concluded negotiations on a trade agreement with the European parliament. It was hoped the agreement could take effect at the beginning of 1966, but the present crisis may delay its ratification.

Diplomatic representatives of Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg met Wednesday and Thursday to discuss the council of ministers' budget.

License Required For Sales Finance Branches In State

The State Justice Department said Thursday the new Installment Sales Act requires that sales finance companies obtain licenses for each of their branch offices in Nebraska.

The department opinion was issued for State Banking Director Henry Ley, who had fielded a number of inquiries from sales finance firms.

The Justice Department said the Installment Sales Act, passed earlier this legislative session as LB283, requires that "each place of business shall hold and display a license to do business . . not that each business shall have a license "

The department also said that licenses are not required for branch offices in cities outside Nebraska whose agents travel in the state to solicit business.

The opinion was written by Assistant Atty. Gen. Richard Williams and approved by Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer.

Beam Wants Citizens' Panel Ag Investigation

Lancaster County Republican Chairman Arlen Beam charged Thursday that Nebraskans were "being treated to another science fiction story" by the State Agriculture Department

Beam's statement referred to a $5,000 study of the Agresearch Program made by three research consultants for the department.

"No matter how imposing the credentials of the investigators may be, a report can be no more valid than the information fed to the people making this study," he said.

"I challenge Gov. Morrison and Director Finigan to let a Nebraska Citizens Committee, selected by the Legislature, study and audit the Ag Department if they are so proud of the job being done. If things are so efficient and effective, they surely should have no objection to this.

"I would also like to publicly ask Gov. Morrison if Nebraska has received any money from the well-publicized growth stimulator contract announced just before the last election. I notice the investigators passed over this project pretty fast."

Beam said he was informed recently no money has been received

"When a department pays for an analysis of itself, you expect a whitewash, and it appears that we got a $5,000 coat this time," he added.

Road Department Opens 3 Project Bids For State

The Department of Roads opened bids Thursday on three highway projects estimated to cost $1.7 million.

Apparent low bidders will be announced Friday after proposals are analyzed.

The largest project is paving and related work on 12.3 miles of U.S. 77 in Thurston County between Winnebago and the Rosalie junction.

Other proposed lettings are for one bridge on U.S. 83 south of North Platte and a box culvert on Neb. 2 near Lakeside in Sheridan County.

Bar Backs Plan To Modify LB918

The Nebraska State Bar Association has urged its members to work for a bill to substantially modify a property tax-tightening act passed earlier this year by the Legislature.

The bill, LB918, would repeal the provision that all real estate sales contain a complete statement of price consideration when reported to the county register of deeds.

The bill was introduced by Beatrice Sen. Fred W. Carstens. It affects the act sponsored by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff requiring the statements.

FB Opposes Bill To Help Ag Migrants

Washington (AP) — Farm organizations and grower representatives generally opposed Thursday a five-bill package designed to improve wages, working conditions and job opportunities for migrant farm labor.

The American Farm Bureau Federation opposed all five bills, which would: minors under 14; permit col-

Establish minimum wages for farm workers; prohibit employment of migratory minors under 14; permit collective bargaining for farm workers; establish a nationwide farm worker recruiting and placement service, and set up a national advisory council on migratory labor.

Testifying before a Senate labor subcommittee headed by Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., Matt Triggs of the Farm Bureau said because farmers hire anybody available at harvest time a minimum hourly wage would require them to pay many workers more than they are worth.

The result, he said, would be a crash program of mechanization, often with uneconomic results.

"We do not really do farm workers any good by pricing their services out of the market and by such means placing an obstacle between them and employment," he said.

Objecting to the child labor bill, Triggs said "exposure to work at a comparatively early age is an important part of the educational process and the development of maturity."

Normal Board To Launch Building At State Colleges

The State Normal Board will meet July 22 to kick off a two-year, $1 8 million building program at Nebraska's four state colleges, Board Coordinator F. B. Decker said Thursday.

Decker said the board will give college presidents official authorization to employ architects and begin planning for the projects contained in the program approved by the legislature last month.

The amounts of money allocated to each college for building purposes were $691,617 for Chadron State College, $200,000 for Kearney State, $625,230 for Peru State and $282,500 for Wayne State. In addition, lawmakers passed a bill appropriating $1,250,000 to complete a science building at Kearney State.

De Murville said he would meet with Luns Monday and with Spaak on Tuesday.

The French minister's acceptance of the Dutch and Belgian bid for talks raised hopes that France may be willing to make some concessions to break the Common Market deadlock which began last Thursday when France walked out of a meeting in Brussels.

In Brussels, Nigeria concluded negotiations on a trade agreement with the European parliament. It was hoped the agreement could take effect at the beginning of 1966, but the present crisis may delay its ratification.

Diplomatic representatives of Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg met Wednesday and Thursday to discuss the council of ministers' budget.

Beam Wants Citizens' Panel Ag Investigation

Lancaster County Republican Chairman Arlen Beam charged Thursday that Nebraskans were "being treated to another science fiction story" by the State Agriculture Department.

Beam's statement referred to a $5,000 study of the Agresearch Program made by three research consultants for the department.

"No matter how imposing the credentials of the investigators may be, a report can be no more valid than the information fed to the people making this study," he said.

"I challenge Gov. Morrison and Director Finigan to let a Nebraska Citizens Committee, selected by the Legislature, study and audit the Ag Department if they are so proud of the job being done. If things are so efficient and effective, they surely should have no objection to this.

"I would also like to publicly ask Gov. Morrison if Nebraska has received any money from the well-publicized growth stimulator contract announced just before the last election. I notice the investigators passed over this project pretty fast."

Beam said he was informed recently no money has been received.

"When a department pays for an analysis of itself, you expect a whitewash, and it appears that we got a $5,000 coat this time," he added.

Road Department Opens 3 Project Bids For State

The Department of Roads opened bids Thursday on three highway projects estimated to cost $1.7 million.

Apparent low bidders will be announced Friday after proposals are analyzed.

The largest project is paving and related work on 12.3 miles of U.S. 77 in Thurston County between Winnebago and the Rosalie junction.

Other proposed lettings are for one bridge on U.S. 83 south of North Platte and a box culvert on Neb. 2 near Lakeside in Sheridan County.

Bar Backs Plan To Modify LB918

The Nebraska State Bar Association has urged its members to work for a bill to substantially modify a property tax-tightening act passed earlier this year by the Legislature.

The bill, LB918, would repeal the provision that all real estate sales contain a complete statement of price consideration when reported to the county register of deeds.

The bill was introduced by Beatrice Sen. Fred W. Carstens. It affects the act sponsored by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff requiring the statements.

FB Opposes Bill To Help Ag Migrants

Washington (AP) — Farm organizations and grower representatives generally opposed Thursday a five-bill package designed to improve wages, working conditions and job opportunities for migrant farm labor.

The American Farm Bureau Federation opposed all five bills, which would: minors under 14; permit col-

Establish minimum wages for farm workers; prohibit employment of migratory minors under 14; permit collective bargaining for farm workers; establish a nationwide farm worker recruiting and placement service, and set up a national advisory council on migratory labor.

Testifying before a Senate labor subcommittee headed by Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., Matt Triggs of the Farm Bureau said because farmers hire anybody available at harvest time a minimum hourly wage would require them to pay many workers more than they are worth.

The result, he said, would be a crash program of mechanization, often with uneconomic results.

"We do not really do farm workers any good by pricing their services out of the market and by such means placing an obstacle between them and employment," he said.

Objecting to the child labor bill, Triggs said "exposure to work at a comparatively early age is an important part of the educational process and the development of maturity."

Hovland Swanson Bomb Warning Discovered False

A police detective and a fire inspector searched Hovland Swanson's, 1230 O, Thursday morning after the store received four calls warning of a planted bomb.

No bomb was found and customers knew nothing about the threatening bomb during the search.

Normal Board To Launch Building At State Colleges

The State Normal Board will meet July 22 to kick off a two-year, $1.8 million building program at Nebraska's four state colleges, Board Coordinator F. B. Decker said Thursday.

Decker said the board will give college presidents official authorization to employ architects and begin planning for the projects contained in the program approved by the legislature last month.

The amounts of money allocated to each college for building purposes were $691,617 for Chadron State College, $200,000 for Kearney State, $625,230 for Peru State and $282,500 for Wayne State. In addition, lawmakers passed a bill appropriating $1,250,000 to complete a science building at Kearney State.

Some Workers Hot, Most Cool In Statehouse

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

It's beginning to warm up in the old Statehouse. In fact, it's down right hot.

Fortunately for most state officers and employes. they're now sitting — oops, working — in air-conditioned offices.

This million dollar innovation came 30 years after the late Gov. Charlie Bryan once vetoed Building Commission plans for refrigeration pipes to "save" $100,000 in construction of this $11 million masterpiece.

New-Fangled

"Air conditioning was a bit new-fangled in those days," recalls an old timer. Besides, Charlie was campaigning on a penny-saving state budget."

Meanwhile, the offices in the capitol's northeast quadrant are yet to be air conditioned so there is still a number of workers, including Gov. Frank Morrison, who will be carrying on the "pioneer spirit" for another summer.

Although final completion date is months away, additional areas may be complete before the hot weather ends.

"We are hoping to get them ready for testing while it's still hot," one technician told one office worker who is literally "sweating it out."

Most Beautiful

Nebraska's capitol, described as "one of the ten most beautiful buildings in the world still continues to attract hundreds of tourists who beat the heat by wearing sleeveless blouses and shorts.

But, except for summer dresses, loosened ties and short-sleeve shirts, there isn't much more a state employe can do and still "uphold the peace and dignity of the State of Nebraska."

There's been speculation on how soon the Legislature will quit, but the consensus is no adjournment is likely before mid-August.

As the Legislative chambers and offices are now delightfully cool, only vacation plans are likely to hasten deliberations, where once the climbing thermometer was a deciding factor.

While it is still hot in the corridors and some offices, Building Supt. Bob Newell is making the heat a little morebearable.

It does feel cooler (doesn't it?) to look out on the green, and watch the cupid-like fountains lanquidly dripping cool, cool water into circular pools painted "swimming pool green."

It's not much, but every little bit helps.

As one eastern visitor to the state remarked, "Is there any place hotter than Nebraska in July."

"Yes," replied a native son. "Nebraska in August."

EQUALIZATION HEARINGS SCHEDULED

State Tax Commissioner George Dworak Tuesday announced the scheduled for county appearances before the State Board of Equalization at hearings at the statehouse July 15 through July 22.

Scheduling of the counties followed the board's decision to summon the taxing officials of all 93 Nebraska counties to explain how they arrived at their assessed valuations of urban and rural properties.

The scheduling was arranged generally on an area basis to enable the tax commissioner's field men to be present for hearings on the various counties in each of their respective districts.

Testimony presented by county officials will be tape-recorded so that board members may refer back to an absolute record should the need arise.

After close of the hearings, the board must evaluate the information submitted by the counties, adjust the various valuation levels to provide equal assessment, then set the state property tax levy.

As in 1964 when the board reviewed county valuations, the threat of a State Supreme Court suit acts as a backdrop to its task.

State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff has reported he may file another action with the high court if the board does not raise valuations to near that of Nance County, which recorded a whopping 4 % increase in tangible property worth after completion of a scientific reappraisal.

Last year Carpenter unsuccessfully contented the board's decision to do nothing about valuations.

Fifteen western counties will kickoff the hearings on July 15. They are:

Sioux, Dawes, Sheridan, Box Butte, Morrill, Scotts Bluff, Garden, Banner, Kimball, Cheyenne, Deuel, Keith, Perkins, Chase and Dundy.

July 16: Cherry, Keya Paha, Byod, Brown, Rock, Holt, Grant, Hooker, Thomas, Blaine, Loup, Garfield, Wheeler, Arthur, McPherson and Logan

July 19: Lincoln, Dawson, Buffalo, Hayes, Frontier, Gosper, Phelps, Kearney, Adams, Hitchcock, Red Willow, Furnas, Harlan, Franklin and Webster.

July 20 Custer, Valley, Greeley, Sherman, Howard, Hall, Hamilton, Merrick, Boone, Platte, Polk, York and Nance.

July 21· Colfax, Butler, Seward, Saline, Jefferson, Gage, Thayer, Nuckolls, Clay, Fillmore, Johnson, Nemaha, Pawnee and Richardson.

July 22· Knox, Cedar, Dixon, Dakota, Thurston, Burt, Cuming, Staton, Wayne, Pierce, Antelope, Madison, Dodge, Washington, Douglas, Saunders, Lancaster, Sarpy, Cass and Otoe.

Study Lag May Stall Road Project

. . . OMAHA, SIOUX CITY HIT; LINCOLN O

Federal and state highway officials said Thursday approval of some road projects in the urban areas of Omaha and Sioux City, Iowa, may be delayed because of failure to meet a July 1 deadline for completion of road studies in those two cities.

They said no problems are foreseen for Lincoln projects even though the capital city's road study also missed the deadline set by Congress. The Lincoln study probably will be fully completed late this year.

"We could slow up projects in Omaha and Sioux City to await completion of the studies," said Lee Jones, district engineer for the United States Bureau of Public Roads. "In any case, projects up for approval are going to be very closely checked until the studies are completed."

The Omaha and Sioux City studies are expected to take about two years with formal launcing of the programs coming within a few months.

State Engineer John Hossack said there probably will be no problem gaining federal approval of "the hot projects" which have been in the planning stage for some time.

"Interstate work and other big jobs shouldn't be affected," Hossack said, "But federal officials might refus to approve some newer pro ects because the studi aren't completed. Only tim will tell."

The 1962 Federal Highwa Act required that comprehen sive studies of road needs b completed by July 1 of thi year in every city of mor than 50,000 population in th nation.

The two-year Lincoln stud is 90% completed, but th studies in the Omaha an Sioux City metropolitan area are still in the preliminar stage. State officials said lac of manpower is to blame.

Army Project Camelot Canceled By Pentagon

Washington (AP)—The Army's controversial $4-million Project Camelot—a study of how Communists capitalize on revolutionary change in developing nations — was canceled Thursday. The Pentagon called it impractical and not worthwhile.

A Defense Department spokesman said, "One of the most difficult problems implicit in the research plan was that of doing research in foreign countries."

A furor flared several weeks ago when a researcher for the project appeared in Chile. The spokesman said no research was ever actually started there but "the sensitivity of the problem" was demonstrated by the reaction to the possibility that research would be done.

The Pentagon announced the cancellation in a four-line statement saying that after re-evaluation "it has been concluded that the project as currently designed will not produce the desired information and the project is therefore being terminated."

The cancellation was described as wise by Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., who had questioned whether the military was intruding without authority in the State Department's domain of foreign policy. But he said an inquiry still is needed by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

McCarthy said the committee should determine how Project Camelot got started in the first place and find out whether the Army has other projects of a similar nature under way.

Envoy Protested

In the Chile flareup, Ambassador Ralph Dungan sent protesting cables to Washington. The State Department was reported irate over the affair.

Testifying Thursday morning before a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee, Theodore R. Vallance, director of the American University research office, said the Camelot researcher in Chile talked with social scientists there but no formal project was started.

Vallance said the researcher, who was not identified, perhaps "acted with a little more enthusiasm than we expected him to."

Officials Press Search In Death Of AF Sergeant

The murderer of S. Sgt. Robert J. Roeske, formerly stationed at Lincoln Air Force Base, was being sought by military authorities at the Amarillo, Tex. Air Force Base Thursday.

Roeske's body was discovered Tuesday in his metal wall-locker at the base where he had been strangled with a neck tie. Investigators had checked a complaint of a foul odor in the barracks.

Roeske was believed to have died Saturday night.

The duty sergeant, a veteran of 17 years, nine months in the Air Force, is survived by his divorced wife, Stella of Lincoln, his mother, Mrs. Hazel Peppering of Iowa Falls, and two daughters, Deborah and Sherere, living with their mother.

Funeral services will be held 11 a.m. Saturday at Linn Funeral Home in Iowa Falls. Burial will be at Buckeye Cemetery in Iowa Falls.

Assassins Kill South Arabian Ruler Saqladi

Aden (UPI) — Bedouin Sheikh Abdullah Saqladi, 36, ruler of the South Arabian state of Shaib and a member of the South Arabian Federal Council, was assassinated in Aden by three gunmen who fired 10 bullets into his body.

A man sitting nearby was killed by a stray bullet.

6 Rich Kids Charged In Field Rape

Oklahoma City (UPI)— Six "rich kids," including the son of a former president of the Oklahoma Bar Association, were charged Thursday with grabbing a 15-year-old girl off the street, driving to a farm field and raping her.

A "John Doe" warrant was issued for a seventh youth allegedly involved in the incident. Police said his identity was known.

The victim, a San Antonio, Tex., girl visiting here, was dumped on the street near an Oklahoma City drive-in restaurant after the 2½-hour episode, police said. She was reported in a state of shock.

Charged Conjointly

Charged with second-degree rape conjointly, with bond set at $10,000 each, were John William Shapard, 16, son of a prominent attorney and church leader; James David Fellers Jr., 17, son of a past president of the Oklahoma Bar Association; Johnny Ishmael, 16, whose father is a well-know doctor in Oklahoma City; 17-year-old twins Richard P. and Michael O. Stanley of suburban Midwest City, and Larry Wyatt Smith, 17, of Midwest City.

Shapard, Fellers and Ishmael are from the exclusive Nichols Hills section of northern Oklahoma City.

"They're all rich kids," said Police Lt. Jim Reading.

Two Released

Shapard and Ishmael were released on bond shortly after their arraignment. The Stanley twins and Smith remained in jail, and Fellers was still to be arrested.

Reading said the girl was standing in front of a drive-in restaurant with a girl friend when several boys in a sports car drove up and grabbed her.

Reading said a boy friend of the victim's girl friend recognized some of the boys in the sports car, took down the tag number and chased them unsuccessfully.

Two Kennedys At Funeral For Rubirosa

Marnes-La-Coquette, France (UPI)—Two sisters of the late President Kennedy and members of the international jet set Thursday attended a nonreligious funeral service for playboy-diplomat Porfirio Rubirosa.

About 150 mourners braved a driving rain as Rubirosa was buried in a tiny cemetery next to his white-walled house in this suburb 10 miles from Paris. Rubirosa was eulogized as a "nice guy" who never let down his friends.

Mrs. Patricia Lawford and Mrs. Jean Smith, sisters of the late president, flew here from New York for the funeral.

Demurrer Filed By Dworak Taken Under Advisemen

Omaha (AP)—District Judge John E. Murphy took under advisement the demurrer filed by former Mayor James J. Dworak attacking a bribery and conspiracy indictment against him.

Deputy County Attorney James M. Murphy said if the demurrer is overruled the next step will be a hearing on the state's motion to consolidate the trial the indictments against Dworak, former city councilmen Ernest A. Adams and Stephen T. Novak, former planning member Carville R. Buttner, and Ronald J. Abboud, a real estate man.

Judge Murphy took under advisement pleas in abatement filed by Adams, Buttner and Novak. A similar plea by Abboud will be heard Monday.

Word comes down the kitchen line today that a new barbecue has been invented.

Looks like a barbecue. Has briquettes like a barbecue. Tastes smoky like barbecue. But—.

This barbecue has briquettes of a tile-like substance—looks like charcoal but flamed by running a gas line into the thing.

It appears, dear friends of the backyard chefs, that meat is not given the smoky flavor by the charcoal at all, at all. It comes from the dripping and burning meat juices.

☆ ☆ ☆

Over many a status-symboled year, I have barbecued. I started out small enough. A few bricks left over from the building.

Stacked them up. Put a grill from the oven on top. And lighted her up.

However, the people down the street immediately had a barbecue built!

I mean a construction job—probably had an architect.

This barbecue had pull-out cutting boards and built-in warming ovens.

It was hooked to electricity. The spit revolved chickens like a merry-go-round.

This wasn't all bad. Because before electricity, I was often spit dog for the neighbors. The spit turned by a crank. And I cranked like crazy for an hour or so. While the host drank cooking sherry and painted the revolving birds with a secret sauce.

☆ ☆ ☆

I then put in a three-legged grill with a cover. I also bought a little Japanese hibachi—so we could cook inside in the winter and not lose social position.

I learned all the sing-song that goes with barbecue:

"If you drop a little sassafrass shaving on. Just before you put on the meat. You get a wonderful flavor!"

I bought quantities of expensive charcoal made from apple weed.

I bought charcoal from Mex- labeled "Hickory blended"—and cost 30 cents more per 10 pound bag.

I bought charcoal from Mexico and blended my own.

I guarded my blend like the people who make chartreuse.

Now it seems I could have just run a gas line out to the back yard.

Put down a few tiles. And simply burned the meat — without burning myself.

On behalf of future historians, I have been noting the way outdoor cookery is moving back in the house.

What started as a simple camp fire outside has become a fearsome and complicated machine.

Electric spits spin the roast. There is an electric lighter you put under the charcoal to light it. For as every chief knows, charcoal is so fireproof you could build with it and pass the inspectors.

We have asbestos gloves. Not to handle the meat, bless your innocent heart. To lift the grill from the charcoal bed. Charcoal, once lit, has a peculiar quality of burning your hand off while scarcely taking the chill off the steak.

☆ ☆ ☆

The camp fire is now joined to the kitchen by an umbilicus of electric wire — which we trip over often enough to give our insurance man fits.

Smoke is drawn off by outdoor fans.

Martinis are kept chill by a clever gadget we freeze in the refrigerator.

More spectacular chefs have a small beer refrigerator hooked up alongside the polished plank table where we serve the burnt offering.

☆ ☆ ☆

And now it appears — love the day! — we must switch the whole thing. We have been cooking with charcoal when we should have been cooking with gas.

And all of us must retool. Add gas lines to the electric wires.

The full circle. As will be noted by historians looking into the smoky age.

Goof Ball Bill Goes To Lyndon

Washington (AP) — Congress sent to the White House Thursday a bill to crack down on bootleg traffic in goof balls and pep pills.

President Johnson asked for the legislation, saying the growing illicit use of stimulant and depressant drugs was a factor in the trend toward lawlessness in the United States.

The House completed congressional action on the bill with a voice vote.

The bill provides increased federal controls over the distribution of barbiturates, amphetamines and other drugs.

Congress was told by witnesses from the Food and Drug Administration that tougher controls were needed because 4.5 billion doses a year—or more than half the annual production of barbiturates and amphetamines—were slipping into underworld channels.

Johnson, in a message to Congress in March, said indiscriminate use of these drugs induced radical personality changes and thus caused "senseless killing, robberies and auto accidents."

The tougher controls are accomplished through increased record keeping and inspection requirements, by providing for control over intrastate — as well as interstate—traffic in the drugs and by making possession of the drugs, other than by the user, illegal outside of the legitimate channels of commerce.

Police Break Up Local Bad Check Ring At Market

The trio was arrested while trying to pass a check at a local supermarket. Police were alerted by the notification system used by many Lincoln stores.

Police said the method used by the trio was to establish a checking account for a small amount, and then change the figures in their deposit book to make it appear that a large amount was on deposit in a local bank. A Lincoln bank official notified the police earlier in the week that he suspected that this type of operation was being attempted.

Police are holding the trio on open charges, pending confirmation of activities of a similar nature in the Omaha area. The local address used by the check writers was 4235 O St.

Army Project Camelot Canceled By Pentagon

Washington (AP)—The Army's controversial $4-million Project Camelot—a study of how Communists capitalize on revolutionary change in developing nations — was canceled Thursday. The Pentagon called it impractical and not worthwhile.

A Defense Department spokesman said, "One of the most difficult problems implicit in the research plan was that of doing research in foreign countries."

A furor flared several weeks ago when a researcher for the project appeared in Chile. The spokesman said no research was ever actually started there but "the sensitivity of the problem" was demonstrated by the reaction to the possibility that research would be done.

The Pentagon announced the cancellation in a four-line statement saying that after re-evaluation "it has been concluded that the project as currently designed will not produce the desired information and the project is therefore being terminated."

The cancellation was described as wise by Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., who had questioned whether the military was intruding without authority in the State Department's domain of foreign policy. But he said an inquiry still is needed by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

McCarthy said the committee should determine how Project Camelot got started in the first place and find out whether the Army has other projects of a similar nature under way.

Envoy Protested

In the Chile flareup, Ambassador Ralph Dungan sent protesting cables to Washington. The State Department was reported irate over the affair.

Testifying Thursday morning before a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee, Theodore R. Vallance, director of the American University research office, said the Camelot researcher in Chile talked with social scientists there but no formal project was started.

Vallance said the researcher, who was not identified, perhaps "acted with a little more enthusiasm than we expected him to."

Officials Press Search In Death Of AF Sergeant

The murderer of S. Sgt. Robert J. Roeske, formerly stationed at Lincoln Air Force Base, was being sought by military authorities at the Amarillo, Tex. Air Force Base Thursday.

Roeske's body was discovered Tuesday in his metal wall locker at the base where he had been strangled with a neck tie. Investigators had checked a complaint of a foul odor in the barracks.

Roeske was believed to have died Saturday night.

The duty sergeant, a veteran of 17 years, nine months in the Air Force, is survived by his divorced wife, Stella of Lincoln, his mother, Mrs. Hazel Peppering of Iowa Falls, and two daughters, Deborah and Sherere, living with their mother.

Funeral services will be held 11 a.m. Saturday at Linn Funeral Home in Iowa Falls. Burial will be at Buckeye Cemetery in Iowa Falls.

Assassins Kill South Arabian Ruler Saqladi

Aden (UPI) — Bedouin Sheikh Abdullah Saqladi, 36, ruler of the South Arabian state of Shaib and a member of the South Arabian Federal Council, was assassinated in Aden by three gunmen who fired 10 bullets into his body.

A man sitting nearby was killed by a stray bullet.

6 Rich Kids Charged In Field Rape

Oklahoma City (UPI)— Six "rich kids," including the son of a former president of the Oklahoma Bar Association, were charged Thursday with grabbing a 15-year-old girl off the street, driving to a farm field and raping her.

A "John Doe" warrant was issued for a seventh youth allegedly involved in the incident. Police said his identity was known.

The victim, a San Antonio, Tex., girl visiting here, was dumped on the street near an Oklahoma City drive-in restaurant after the 2½-hour episode, police said. She was reported in a state of shock.

Charged Conjointly

Charged with second-degree rape conjointly, with bond set at $10,000 each, were John William Shapard, 16, son of a prominent attorney and church leader; James David Fellers Jr., 17, son of a past president of the Oklahoma Bar Association; Johnny Ishmael, 16, whose father is a well-know doctor in Oklahoma City; 17-year-old twins Richard P. and Michael O. Stanley of suburban Midwest City, and Larry Wyatt Smith, 17, of Midwest City.

Shapard, Fellers and Ishmael are from the exclusive Nichols Hills section of northern Oklahoma City.

"They're all rich kids," said Police Lt. Jim Reading.

Two Released

Shapard and Ishmael were released on bond shortly after their arraignment. The Stanley twins and Smith remained in jail, and Fellers was still to be arrested.

Reading said the girl was standing in front of a drive-in restaurant with a girl friend when several boys in a sports car drove up and grabbed her.

Reading said a boy friend of the victim's girl friend recognized some of the boys in the sports car, took down the tag number and chased them unsuccessfully.

Two Kennedys At Funeral For Rubirosa

Marnes-La-Coquette, France (UPI)—Two sisters of the late President Kennedy and members of the international jet set Thursday attended a non-religious funeral service for playboy-diplomat Porfirio Rubirosa.

About 150 mourners braved a driving rain as Rubirosa was buried in a tiny cemetery next to his white-walled house in this suburb 10 miles from Paris. Rubirosa was eulogized as a "nice guy" who never let down his friends.

Mrs. Patricia Lawford and Mrs. Jean Smith, sisters of the late president, flew here from New York for the funeral.

Demurrer Filed By Dworak Taken Under Advisemen

Omaha (AP)—District Judge John E. Murphy took under advisement the demurrer filed by former Mayor James J. Dworak attacking a bribery and conspiracy indictment against him.

Deputy County Attorney James M. Murphy said if the demurrer is overruled the next step will be a hearing on the state's motion to consolidate the trial the indictments against Dworak, former city councilmen Ernest A. Adams and Stephen T. Novak, former planning member Carville R. Buttner, and Ronald J. Abboud, a real estate man.

Judge Murphy took under advisement pleas in abatement filed by Adams, Buttner and Novak. A similar plea by Abboud will be heard Monday.

Word comes down the kitchen line today that a new barbecue has been invented.

Looks like a barbecue. Has briquettes like a barbecue. Tastes smoky like barbecue. But—.

This barbecue has briquettes of a tile-like substance—looks like charcoal but flamed by running a gas line into the thing.

It appears, dear friends of the backyard chefs, that meat is not given the smoky flavor by the charcoal at all, at all. It comes from the dripping and burning meat juices.

Which can be done just as well on tile as charcoal.

And now they tell me.

☆ ☆ ☆

Over many a status-symboled year, I have barbecued. I started out small enough. A few bricks left over from the building.

Stacked them up. Put a grill from the oven on top. And lighted her up.

However, the people down the street immediately had a barbecue built!

I mean a construction job—probably had an architect.

This barbecue had pull-out cutting boards and built-in warming ovens.

It was hooked to electricity. The spit revolved chickens like a merry-go-round.

This wasn't all bad. Because before electricity, I was often spit dog for the neighbors. The spit turned by a crank. And I cranked like crazy for an hour or so. While the host drank cooking sherry and painted the revolving birds with a secret sauce.

☆ ☆ ☆

I then put in a three-legged grill with a cover. I also bought a little Japanese hibachi—so we could cook inside in the winter and not lose social position.

I learned all the sing-song that goes with barbecue:

"If you drop a little sassafrass shaving on. Just before you put on the meat. You get a wonderful flavor!"

I bought quantities of expensive charcoal made from apple weed.

I bought charcoal from Mexlabeled "Hickory blended"—and cost 30 cents more per 10 pound bag.

I bought charcoal from Mexico and blended my own.

I guarded my blend like the people who make chartreuse.

Now it seems I could have just run a gas line out to the back yard.

Put down a few tiles. And simply burned the meat — without burning myself.

☆ ☆ ☆

On behalf of future historians, I have been noting the way outdoor cookery is moving back in the house.

What started as a simple camp fire outside has become a fearsome and complicated machine.

Electric spits spin the roast.

There is an electric lighter you put under the charcoal to light it. For as every chief knows, charcoal is so fireproof you could build with it and pass the inspectors.

We have asbestos gloves. Not to handle the meat, bless your innocent heart. To lift the grill from the charcoal bed. Charcoal, once lit, has a peculiar quality of burning your hand off while scarcely taking the chill off the steak.

☆ ☆ ☆

The camp fire is now joined to the kitchen by an umbilicus of electric wire — which we trip over often enough to give our insurance man fits.

Smoke is drawn off by outdoor fans.

Martinis are kept chill by a clever gadget we freeze in the refrigerator.

More spectacular chefs have a small beer refrigerator hooked up alongside the polished plank table where we serve the burnt offering.

Pots of liquid lacquer hang on wrought iron holders. Ready to be painted with loving strokes on the meat, seasoned with apple wood shavings and scented charcoal blends.

☆ ☆ ☆

And now it appears — love the day! — we must switch the whole thing. We have been cooking with charcoal when we should have been cooking with gas.

And all of us must retool. Add gas lines to the electric wires.

The full circle. As will be noted by historians looking into the smoky age.

Goof Ball Bill Goes To Lyndon

Washington (AP) — Congress sent to the White House Thursday a bill to crack down on bootleg traffic in goof balls and pep pills.

President Johnson asked for the legislation, saying the growing illicit use of stimulant and depressant drugs was a factor in the trend toward lawlessness in the United States.

The House completed congressional action on the bill with a voice vote.

The bill provides increased federal controls over the distribution of barbiturates, amphetamines and other drugs.

Congress was told by witnesses from the Food and Drug Administration that tougher controls were needed because 4.5 billion doses a year—or more than half the annual production of barbiturates and amphetamines—were slipping into underworld channels.

Johnson, in a message to Congress in March, said indiscriminate use of these drugs induced radical personality changes and thus caused "senseless killing, robberies and auto accidents."

The tougher controls are accomplished through increased record keeping and inspection requirements, by providing for control over intrastate—as well as interstate—traffic in the drugs and by making possession of the drugs, other than by the user, illegal outside of the legitimate channels of commerce.

Police Break Up Local Bad Check Ring At Market

Lincoln police broke up a bad check operation Thursday evening with the arrest of a 35 year old man, his wife, 30, and the man's mother, 55.

The trio was arrested while trying to pass a check at a local supermarket. Police were alerted by the notification system used by many Lincoln stores.

Police said the method used by the trio was to establish a checking account for a small amount, and then change the figures in their deposit book to make it appear that a large amount was on deposit in a local bank. A Lincoln bank official notified the police earlier in the week that he suspected that this type of operation was being attempted.

Police are holding the trio on open charges, pending confirmation of activities of a similar nature in the Omaha area. The local address used by the check writers was 4235 O St.

Quick Rally In Market Ups Prices

New York (AP)—The stock market pulled out of the doldrums Thursday with a quick breaking rally that sent prices surging.

The market followed its slow pace of the previous two days until about midafternoon when prices suddenly spurted.

The advance spread through a wide range of stocks, carrying key issues to gains of a point or so. Some volatile issues went higher.

Trading perked up as the rally rolled along.

A resurgence of institutional demand and short covering among volatile issues were credited with getting the advance going.

A broker said also that traders began buying "because the market just wouldn't go down." Traders aim to buy at the market's low point.

He also mentioned a growing feeling that business is going to be good, an imminent flood of good corporate earnings reports, and increasing orders for goods for the Viet Nam war.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials spurted 7.08 to 877.85.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose 2.5 to 322.5 with industrials up 3.8, rails up 1.6 and utilities up .8. Based on the increase of this average, an estimated $3.7 billion was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Of 1,331 issues traded, 741 advanced and 332 declined. There were 12 new 1965 lows and 7 new highs.

Volume rose to 4.38 million shares from 3.03 million Wednesday, which was the lowest since Aug. 2, 1963.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and treasury bonds advanced.

Losses General In Grain Futures

Chicago (AP) — Losses became broad and general in the grain futures market Thursday as persistent selling hit all commodities.

Wheat finished well over a cent lower on all new standard grade contracts, corn slightly more than a cent at the extreme and soybeans 4 cents. Declines in oats and rye were limited to major fractions.

Slightly increased hedge selling along with some liquidation weakened wheat. Brokers said traders seemed to have become convinced that a considerable volume of hedging will have to be absorbed within the next week or so and that opportunities to establish long positions will be more favorable then.

Soybeans finished ¾ to 4 cents a bushel lower, July $2.85½-86; new standard grade wheat 1⅛-1½ lower, July $1.42; corn ½-1⅛ lower, July $1.29⅝-½; oats unchanged to ¾ lower, July 67½ cents; rye ⅜-¾ lower, July $1.10¼.

Double Standard In U.S. Tax Structure Impedes Planning

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

The eagerness of the political "economic managers" at Washington to find devices to bolster public confidence in the business outlook creates an opportunity to remove inequities of the federal income tax law.

Rukeyser

Parenthetically, this writer, who has long advocated scientific tax reform and moderation, does not go along with the theory that long term changes should be conceived as an immediate shot in the arm for bulling stock prices.

Be that as it may, the double standard in the federal tax structure as between corporate capital cost through the debt route vs. through the equity or stock route is a thorn in the side of competent financial planning. The nature of the evil goes far beyond the selfish complaint of stockholders that there is double taxation of distributed corporate net income.

The large corporation pays a 49% tax on net corporate income, and then the recipient of dividend income also pays a personal income tax running from 14% to 70%. The repeal in 1964 of the partial relief technique opens the subect wide for Congressional consideration.

Unusual Appeal

Ordinarily the dismal science is unalluring as voter bait, but right now with the security markets weighing the future outlook and with the Johnson Administration eager to cultivate public "confidence," this technical subject takes on unusual potential emotional appeal. Few other methods could do as much to promote long term investment interest in common stocks.

The double taxation of corporate income, distributed as dividends, did not become a serious matter until the tax rates went up. Prior to 1936 dividends were exempt from the first normal income tax bracket.

The situation became compounded under the stress of Federal hunger for revenue in years of depression, wars and and post-world social developments. There was an attempt at partial relief in 1954. There had been agitation for a 20% credit on dividends, but this was compromised at 4% in addition to excluding the first $50 of dividend income.

The Revenue Act of 1964 repealed the tax credit, but raised the exclusion from $50 to $100.

Usually, clear thinking on such technical topics is obscured by cliches. But recent tabulations by the New York Stock Exchange, showing more than 20 million share owners, make it clear that not all capitalists are bloated. The number understates the diffusion of ownership in the United States, since many others participate indirectly in equity positions through mutual funds, insurance companies, Common Trust Funds and other arrangements.

Serious Defect

But there is a more serious defect in the existing federal corporate tax law.

It creates a prejudice on the part of financial managers of corporations in favor of raising capital funds through creation of debts — bonds and notes — rather than through the sale of additional ownership shares.

This arises from the arbitrary and economically unsound principle that the cost of debt capital is deductible from the net corporate taxable income, whereas the servicing of equity capital, evidenced by common shares, through the payment of dividends, is non-deductible.

So when and if other factors are equal, there is a 48% (corporate income tax rate) penalty for choosing equity (stock) financing instead of creation of additional debt.

The national interest and the health of the national economy require the facing of changes in corporate capital structures without such built-in bias.

If such sensible tax revision would promote economic health and growth, it would soon absorb the cost. A proposal has been made that any legitimate cost of capital be deductible. Under such a formula, dividends, like interest on debt, would be treated as business expense.

Chief Justice Marshall in the nation's early history pointed out that the power to tax is the power to destroy. However, by sensible retracing of former errors, the Congress can contribute to economic health.

Such a move would do vastly more to restore public faith in the long term investment status of common stocks than cheery statements from political office-holders posing as economic forecasters.

(Mr. Rukeyser will bepleased to receive inquireis from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

Quick Rally In Market Ups Prices

New York (AP)—The stock market pulled out of the doldrums Thursday with a quick breaking rally that sent prices surging.

The market followed its slow pace of the previous two days until about midafternoon when prices suddenly spurted.

The advance spread through a wide range of stocks, carrying key issues to gains of a point or so. Some volatile issues went higher.

Trading perked up as the rally rolled along.

A resurgence of institutional demand and short covering among volatile issues were credited with getting the advance going.

A broker said also that traders began buying "because the market just wouldn't go down." Traders aim to buy at the market's low point.

He also mentioned a growing feeling that business is going to be good, an imminent flood of good corporate earnings reports, and increasing orders for goods for the Viet Nam war.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials spurted 7.08 to 877.85.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose 2.5 to 322.5 with industrials up 3.8, rails up 1.6 and utilities up .8. Based on the increase of this average, an estimated $3.7 billion was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Of 1,331 issues traded, 741 advanced and 332 declined. There were 12 new 1965 lows and 7 new highs.

Volume rose to 4.38 million shares from 3.03 million Wednesday, which was the lowest since Aug. 2, 1963.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and treasury bonds advanced.

Losses General In Grain Futures

Chicago (AP) — Losses became broad and general in the grain futures market Thursday as persistent selling hit all commodities.

Wheat finished well over a cent lower on all new standard grade contracts, corn slightly more than a cent at the extreme and soybeans 4 cents. Declines in oats and rye were limited to major fractions.

Slightly increased hedge selling along with some liquidation weakened wheat. Brokers said traders seemed to have become convinced that a considerable volume of hedging will have to be absorbed within the next week or so and that opportunities to establish long positions will be more favorable then.

Soybeans finished ¾ to 4 cents a bushel lower, July $2.85½-86; new standard grade wheat 1⅛-1½ lower, July $1.42; corn ½-1⅛ lower, July $1.29⅝-½; oats unchanged to ¾ lower, July 67⅛ cents; rye ⅜-¾ lower, July $1.10⅛.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla. (AP) — A spelling bee sponsored by city Knights of Columbus was announced by a news release which described the "master of cerimonies."

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Double Standard In U.S. Tax Structure Impedes Planning

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

Rukeyser

The eagerness of the political "economic managers" at Washington to find devices to bolster public confidence in the business outlook creates an opportunity to remove inequities of the federal income tax law.

Parenthetically, this writer, who has long advocated scientific tax reform and moderation, does not go along with the theory that long term changes should be conceived as an immediate shot in the arm for bulling stock prices.

Be that as it may, the double standard in the federal tax structure as between corporate capital cost through the debt route vs. through the equity or stock route is a thorn in the side of competent financial planning. The nature of the evil goes far beyond the selfish complaint of stockholders that there is double taxation of distributed corporate net income.

The large corporation pays a 49% tax on net corporate income, and then the recipient of dividend income also pays a personal income tax running from 14% to 70%. The repeal in 1964 of the partial relief technique opens the subect wide for Congressional consideration.

Unusual Appeal

Ordinarily the dismal science is unalluring as voter bait, but right now with the security markets weighing the future outlook and with the Johnson Administration eager to cultivate public "confidence," this technical subject takes on unusual potential emotional appeal. Few other methods could do as much to promote long term investment interest in common stocks.

The double taxation of corporate income, distributed as dividends, did not become a serious matter until the tax rates went up. Prior to 1936 dividends were exempt from the first normal income tax bracket.

The situation became compounded under the stress of Federal hunger for revenue in years of depression, wars and and post-world social developments. There was an attempt at partial relief in 1954. There had been agitation for a 20% credit on dividends, but this was compromised at 4% in addition to excluding the first $50 of dividend income.

The Revenue Act of 1964 repealed the tax credit, but raised the exclusion from $50 to $100.

Usually, clear thinking on such technical topics is obscured by cliches. But recent tabulations by the New York Stock Exchange, showing more than 20 million share owners, make it clear that not all capitalists are bloated. The number understates the diffusion of ownership in the United States, since many others participate indirectly in equity positions through mutual funds, insurance companies, Common Trust Funds and other arrangements.

Serious Defect

But there is a more serious defect in the existing federal corporate tax law.

It creates a prejudice on the part of financial managers of corporations in favor of raising capital funds through creation of debts — bonds and notes — rather than through the sale of additional ownership shares.

This arises from the arbitrary and economically unsound principle that the cost of debt capital is deductible from the net corporate taxable income, whereas the servicing of equity capital, evidenced by common shares, through the payment of dividends, is non-deductible.

So when and if other factors are equal, there is a 48% (corporate income tax rate) penalty for choosing equity (stock) financing instead of creation of additional debt.

The national interest and the health of the national economy require the facing of changes in corporate capital structures without such built-in bias.

If such sensible tax revision would promote economic health and growth, it would soon absorb the cost. A proposal has been made that any legitimate cost of capital be deductible. Under such a formula, dividends, like interest on debt, would be treated as business expense.

Chief Justice Marshall in the nation's early history pointed out that the power to tax is the power to destroy. However, by sensible retracing of former errors, the Congress can contribute to economic health.

Such a move would do vastly more to restore public faith in the long term investment status of common stocks than cheery statements from political office-holders posing as economic forecasters.

(Mr. Rukeyser will bepleased to receive inquireis from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

3 Children Electrocuted During Play

Savannah, Ga. (AP)—Three children were electrocuted during a heavy rainstorm Thursday when a 4,000-volt power line fell across a wire fence.

Police said the three started to leave a backyard where they were playing and not realizing the fence was electrified, tried to open a gate and were killed.

Teddy Sapp, 12, grabbed the gate and his playmates, Renee North, 6, and her sister Wanda, 12, could not stop and ran into him, officers said.

The boy and younger girl were killed immediately, but Wanda's screams attracted a passerby. 18-year-old Jim Sullivan, who grabbed a board and lifted the power line from the fence.

The children were taken by ambulance to a hospital, and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation was administered to Wanda on the way. All three were dead on arrival.

Teddy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Sapp. The girls were daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. North.

Grant Hall Demolition Authorized

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents Thursday authorized the demolition of Grant Memorial Hall, in accordance with an order issued last month by the State Fire Marshal, condmening the building.

Arrangements are being made to handle physical education classes for women in various other campus buildings. The main offices of the physical education for women department have been moved to the Bancroft School building.

The decision to demolish rather than renovate Grant Memorial Hall was based on the State Fire Marshal's condemnation order which stated that the building "by reason of age, neglect, rotted and deteriorated condition mentioned above, being in generally poor and weakened condition and especially liable to fire, is so situated to endanger life, limb and other buildings in the vicinity.

"By reason of these conditions, this building is herewith condemned, the building shall be demolished and the premises cleared of all debris," the order stated.

Gauger Appointed Head Of Botany Department

Dr. Wendell L. Gauger was appointed chairman of the department of botany succeeding Dr. W. W. Ray at the Thursday meeting of the University of Nebraska Board of Regents.

Gauger

Dr. Gauger joined the University staff in 1956. His primary research and publication activity has been in the study of the genetics of fungi.

He is a member of the Mycological Society of America, the Botanical Society of America, Sigma Xi and the Nebraska Academy of Sciences.

Dr. Ray will continue teaching and research activities as professor of botany.

In other business, the Regents named Russell H. Brown administrative assistant to the vice chancellor for student affairs, Dr. G. Robert Ross.

With reserach responsibilities, Brown will carry out some of the duties formerly handled by associate dean, J. Winston Martin, who resigned.

Other personnel action included the appointment of Dr. Charles W. Martin to associate professor of engineering mechanics and Florence S. Walker to associate professor of family economics and management.

3 Children Electrocuted During Play

Savannah, Ga. (AP)—Three children were electrocuted during a heavy rainstorm Thursday when a 4,000-volt power line fell across a wire fence.

Police said the three started to leave a backyard where they were playing and not realizing the fence was electrified, tried to open a gate and were killed.

Teddy Sapp, 12, grabbed the gate and his playmates, Renee North, 6, and her sister Wanda, 12, could not stop and ran into him, officers said.

The boy and younger girl were killed immediately, but Wanda's screams attracted a passerby. 18-year-old Jim Sullivan, who grabbed a board and lifted the power line from the fence.

The children were taken by ambulance to a hospital, and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation was administered to Wanda on the way. All three were dead on arrival.

Teddy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Sapp. The girls were daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. North.

Sidney Poitier To Wed Actress Diahann Carroll

Hollywood (UPI) — Academy Award actor Sidney Poitier will marry singer-actress Diahann Carroll as soon as his divorce becomes final, spokesmen said Thursday.

Poitier, 41, who got his Oscar for "Lillies of the Field," was wed 13 years to his first wife, Juanita, a former dancer. Their divorce will become final in six weeks.

Poitier had three children by that marriage.

Miss Carroll, the star of "No Strings" on Broadway, will leave for a tour of Australia in October. A spokesman said the couple probably will wed about that time.

Ex-Omahan Will Head Schools In Scarsdale, N.Y.

Cleveland (AP)—Dr. John H. Lawson, 43, of Hingham, Mass., was named Thursday superintendent of school in suburban Shaker Heights.

Shaker school officials, in announcing the appointment, said Lawson is expected to assume his new post around Sept. 1. He has a three-year contract, starting at $27,000 a year.

He will succeed Dr. Donald Emery, who leaves Aug. 15 to become superintendent of schools in Scarsdale, N.Y. His salary the past year was $26,750. Dr. Emery was formerly dean of the college of adult education at the University of Omaha.

Grant Hall Demolition Authorized

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents Thursday authorized the demolition of Grant Memorial Hall, in accordance with an order issued last month by the State Fire Marshal, condmening the building.

Arrangements are being made to handle physical education classes for women in various other campus buildings. The main offices of the physical education for women department have been moved to the Bancroft School building.

The decision to demolish rather than renovate Grant Memorial Hall was based on the State Fire Marshal's condemnation order which stated that the building "by reason of age, neglect, rotted and deteriorated condition mentioned above, being in generally poor and weakened condition and especially liable to fire, is so situated to endanger life, limb and other buildings in the vicinity.

"By reason of these conditions, this building is herewith condemned, the building shall be demolished and the premises cleared of all debris," the order stated.

Heater Caused Fire

Oskaloosa, Iowa (AP)—Fire Chief Willard Ellis said a defective water heater apparently caused a fire that destroyed the Hackert Locker Plant in downtown Oskaloosa.

Governor Volpe Is Substitute For Altar Boy

Winchester, Mass. (AP)—Massachusetts Gov. John A. Volpe began his day Thursday by serving as an altar boy at a memorial mass in St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, his home parish.

The governor was among the parishioners and when no altar boy showed up he took up the duty himself.

It was a memorial high mass for Mai Vaugh, who died a month ago. She was the sister of Wilton Vaugh, director of the Massachusetts division of boats.

Pair Accused Of Brady Burglary Sent To Prison

North Platte (AP)—Two North Platte men were given prison sentences Thursday for their part in the burglary of the Bank of Brady Dec. 19, 1964.

Federal District Judge Richard Robinson sentenced Guy Leroy Meyers, 24, to two years in prison, and Louis Lopez, also 24, to a 20-month term.

They had been held in the Lincoln County jail since December under bond of $1,500 each.

Less than $100 was taken in the breakin. The vault was not opened.

Russian Reforms Mean More Profit Motives

. . . QUOTA SYSTEM GOING

Moscow (UPI) — The Russian Federation Thursday announced a series of sweeping economic reforms that could mean more and more of the Soviet Union's national economy will be based on the capitalistic profit motive.

The reforms outlined to the Supreme Soviet (parliament) of the Russian Federation — also known as the Russian Republic—will scrap the "quota" system of production in the federation's light industry and put more emphasis than ever on consumer goods and profits.

At the same time, the Soviet trade union newspaper Trud announced the success of experiments eliminating government "middlemen" in the supply of consumer goods from factory to store. Trud said the experiment should be enlarged to include heavy industry.

Informed sources said Thursday developments were part of a trend toward the "profit system" and greater responsibility for individual businessmen and managers with correspondingly less direction from the state.

The results, they said, could be a new outpouring of better-made, stylish, lower-priced goods for an increasingly choosy population of shoppers.

The Russian Federation is the largest of the 15 Soviet republics, encompassing more than half of the union's area and population.

The sources said that if the reforms prove successful in the Russian Federation they are expected to be applied to the rest of the Soviet Union.

In the past, Russian and other Soviet industries turned out goods to meet quotas set by the government. Often they concentrated more on quantity than quality. In recent years, this has meant that expensive but unattractive goods have piled up on shelves—with the state-owned industries taking the losses.

Thursday's announcement that henceforth factories are expected to turn out goods that will sell. Informed sources said the profits will be shared by the state which owns the plants and the managers who run them. Some of the earnings also will trickle down to the workers in the form of bonuses, more pay and welfare plans.

94 Cubans Flee Castro Communism

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Ninety-four Cubans, the largest fugitive group to arrive here by small boat since Fidel Castro's 1959 takeover, checked into the refugee center Thursday.

They said they had to overpower two Castro militiamen to make their escape possible. The militiamen went along with the two-boat party into exile.

"We were crowded," confided Pablo Suarez, 48-year-old fisherman who was aboard a 25-foot boat carrying 60 Cubans. "We didn't have much breathing space. We fell all over each other. We didn't sleep all night."

During the journey, five persons were transferred to the other boat, 23 feet long, to relieve congestion.

The boats left the northern coast of Pinar Del Rio Province, Western Cuba, Tuesday night. Wednesday night, after the motor of one conked out 45 miles from the Florida coast, the German freighter Karl Leonhardt rescued the Cubans.

"Our water supply had just given out," Suarez related. "We had lived on crackers and water."

The militiamen, ane named Pedro and the other Modesto but declining use of their last names, asked asylum in the United States along with the others. "We are tired of the Communist regime," they were quoted as saying.

NASA Officer Joins Space Exploration, Art In Address

Miss Muriel Thorne, an educational programs officer for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Office in Washington, D. C., spoke to the members of the Conference on Creative Instructional Uses of Reference Materials at a banquet culminating the four day conference at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education.

Miss Thorne spoke in conjunction with the Aero-Space Workshops held during the conference.

The subject of Miss Thorne's talk was "Space Exploration and the Arts". In her presentation Miss Thorne used slide projections to illustrate man's fascination with the "heavens" throughout his recorded history on earth.

The wedding of the two seemingly diverse subjects, according to Miss Thorne, served to underline the interchange of ideas between the arts and sciences. From the first dream of flight to today's modern rocketry man's imagination was said to play a very important role, she said. "At first fiction stimulated science, then fiction became greatly scientific, and today science surpasses fiction," said Miss Thorne.

The object of the presentation was to illustrate the value of the artist's position today in interpreting science for the layman; and to show how space related subjects serve as a "wealth of inspiration for today's creative youth." Miss Thorne said that, "today's artists capture their world more so than in any other period in history."

Miss Thorne said she hoped to illustrate to the teachers a method of giving stimulation to different areas of approach to space exploration. The keynote for the conference and art today in Miss Thorne's words, is giving "vital expression to intangible force."

GOP To Give Sen. Curtis Lots Of Help

Omaha (AP) — The Republican Party will provide what time it takes, finances and personnel to get Sen. Carl Curtis re-elected to the Senate, Raymond Humphreys, the party's national committee director of training and education, said Thursday.

Humphreys termed the election of Curtis vital to the party and said, "We are assuming that Curtis will have a tough fight."

"The speculation that I hear out of Nebraska is that Gov. Frank Morrison (Democrat) will be his opponent. Even in Nebraska we have to fight for the survival of the two-party system," Humphreys added.

Asked about the split of GOP liberals and conservatives, Humphreys replied, "The Democrats would like us to think that we have not healed all wouunds. I recognize the rights of individuals to have various viewpoints within the party. We need them all."

Baruch Fortune To Education, Science, Culture

New York (AP) — Bernard M. Baruch left most of his fortune for educational, scientific and charitable purposes, it was disclosed with the filing of his will Thursday.

The value of the financiers' estate was not disclosed but an affidavit in Surrogate court placed it "in excess of $1 million."

The 23-page will contains at least 42 specific bequests totaling about $2,266,500. It was dated last May 20, exactly one month before he died in his home here at the age of 94.

Baruch left two-thirds of his residual estate to City College, from which he was graduated, to make grants and loans to students at the Baruch School of Business and Public Administration; and one-sixth each to Bellevue Hospital and Columbia University's department of rehabilitation and physical medicine.

Nebraskans Plan To Attend Plains Ag Council Meet

A sizable delegation of Nebraskans will attend the annual meeting of the Great Plains Agricultural Council at the University of Wyoming at Laramie July 28-29.

Dale Jaedicke, state conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service, will speak at the conference, which this year is emphasizing development of water resources.

Russian Reforms Mean More Profit Motives

. . . QUOTA SYSTEM GOING

Moscow (UPI) — The Russian Federation Thursday announced a series of sweeping economic reforms that could mean more and more of the Soviet Union's national economy will be based on the capitalistic profit motive.

The reforms outlined to the Supreme Soviet (parliament) of the Russian Federation — also known as the Russian Republic—will scrap the "quota" system of production in the federation's light industry and put more emphasis than ever on consumer goods and profits.

At the same time, the Soviet trade union newspaper Trud announced the success of experiments eliminating government "middlemen" in the supply of consumer goods from factory to store. Trud said the experiment should be enlarged to include heavy industry.

Informed sources said Thursday developments were part of a trend toward the "profit system" and greater responsibility for individual businessmen and managers with correspondingly less direction from the state.

The results, they said, could be a new outpouring of better-made, stylish, lower-priced goods for an increasingly choosy population of shoppers.

The Russian Federation is the largest of the 15 Soviet republics, encompassing more than half of the union's area and population.

The sources said that if the reforms prove successful in the Russian Federation they are expected to be applied to the rest of the Soviet Union.

In the past, Russian and other Soviet industries turned out goods to meet quotas set by the government. Often they concentrated more on quantity than quality. In recent years, this has meant that expensive but unattractive goods have piled up on shelves—with the state-owned industries taking the losses.

Thursday's announcement that henceforth factories are expected to turn out goods that will sell. Informed sources said the profits will be shared by the state which owns the plants and the managers who run them. Some of the earnings also will trickle down to the workers in the form of bonuses, more pay and welfare plans.

94 Cubans Flee Castro Communism

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Ninety-four Cubans, the largest fugitive group to arrive here by small boat since Fidel Castro's 1959 takeover, checked into the refugee center Thursday.

They said they had to overpower two Castro militiamen to make their escape possible. The militiamen went along with the two-boat party into exile.

"We were crowded," confided Pablo Suarez, 48-year-old fisherman who was aboard a 25-foot boat carrying 60 Cubans. "We didn't have much breathing space. We fell all over each other. We didn't sleep all night."

During the journey, five persons were transferred to the other boat, 23 feet long, to relieve congestion.

The boats left the northern coast of Pinar Del Rio Province, Western Cuba, Tuesday night. Wednesday night, after the motor of one conked out 45 miles from the Florida coast, the German freighter Karl Leonhardt rescued the Cubans.

"Our water supply had just given out," Suarez related. "We had lived on crackers and water."

The militiamen, ane named Pedro and the other Modesto but declining use of their last names, asked asylum in the United States along with the others. "We are tired of the Communist regime," they were quoted as saying.

NASA Officer Joins Space Exploration, Art In Address

Miss Muriel Thorne, an educational programs officer for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Office in Washington, D. C., spoke to the members of the Conference on Creative Instructional Uses of Reference Materials at a banquet culminating the four day conference at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education.

Miss Thorne spoke in conjunction with the Aero-Space Workshops held during the conference.

The subject of Miss Thorne's talk was "Space Exploration and the Arts". In her presentation Miss Thorne used slide projections to illustrate man's fascination with the "heavens" throughout his recorded history on earth.

The wedding of the two seemingly diverse subjects, according to Miss Thorne, served to underline the interchange of ideas between the arts and sciences. From the first dream of flight to today's modern rocketry man's imagination was said to play a very important role, she said. "At first fiction stimulated science, then fiction became greatly scientific, and today science surpasses fiction," said Miss Thorne.

The object of the presentation was to illustrate the value of the artist's position today in interpreting science for the layman; and to show how space related subjects serve as a "wealth of inspiration for today's creative youth." Miss Thorne said that, "today's artists capture their world more so than in any other period in history."

Miss Thorne said she hoped to illustrate to the teachers a method of giving stimulation to different areas of approach to space exploration. The keynote for the conference and art today in Miss Thorne's words, is giving "vital expression to intangible force."

GOP To Give Sen. Curtis Lots Of Help

Omaha (AP) — The Republican Party will provide what time it takes, finances and personnel to get Sen. Carl Curtis re-elected to the Senate, Raymond Humphreys, the party's national committee director of training and education, said Thursday.

Humphreys termed the election of Curtis vital to the party and said, "We are assuming that Curtis will have a tough fight."

"The speculation that I hear out of Nebraska is that Gov. Frank Morrison (Democrat) will be his opponent. Even in Nebraska we have to fight for the survival of the two-party system," Humphreys added.

Asked about the split of GOP liberals and conservatives, Humphreys replied, "The Democrats would like us to think that we have not healed all wouunds. I recognize the rights of individuals to have various viewpoints within the party. We need them all."

Nebraskans Plan To Attend Plains Ag Council Meet

A sizable delegation of Nebraskans will attend the annual meeting of the Great Plains Agricultural Council at the University of Wyoming at Laramie July 28-29.

Dale Jaedicke, state conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service, will speak at the conference, which this year is emphasizing development of water resources.

Baruch Fortune To Education, Science, Culture

New York (AP) — Bernard M. Baruch left most of his fortune for educational, scientific and charitable purposes, it was disclosed with the filing of his will Thursday.

The value of the financiers' estate was not disclosed but an affidavit in Surrogate court placed it "in excess of $1 million."

The 23-page will contains at least 42 specific bequests totaling about $2,266,500. It was dated last May 20, exactly one month before he died in his home here at the age of 94.

Baruch left two-thirds of his residual estate to City College, from which he was graduated, to make grants and loans to students at the Baruch School of Business and Public Administration; and one-sixth each to Bellevue Hospital and Columbia University's department of rehabilitation and physical medicine.
